

NIGHT EDITION

SCHOOL EXAMINATIONS

Will be Held in Grammar Schools on June 26 and 27

Examinations in grammar schools for admission to the high school will be held in the respective grammar school buildings on Monday and Tuesday, June 26 and 27. A public examination for those who have not received certificates of admission will be held in the Old Moody school on the same days at 5.30 o'clock a. m.

Those of the grammar school pupils who do not get certificates through the grammar school channel can take the public examination and if successful will be on the same footing as those who receive grammar school certificates. The public examination is also for pupils from out of town who come without certificates.

Seizure of Land

A statement containing a description of the boulevard and to be seized by the city to improve and increase the water supply of the city of Lowell was given to Mayor Meehan today by the city solicitor for his signature. As soon as the mayor has affixed his signature the paper will be delivered to the water board and will be duly recorded.

As soon as recorded the taking of the land is completed and the property will belong to the city. A plan of the land will also be recorded. When the taking has been completed the owners of the different lots are proposed to collect from the city. If they agree with the water board on a price it will obviate the necessity of going to court. In that case all that would have to be done would be to sign a deed of release.

About Train Service

Mayor Meehan is in receipt of the following letter relative to train service:

Boston, June 13, 1911.

Hon. John F. Meehan, Mayor of Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir—Mr. Mellen desires me to acknowledge receipt of your letter of the 9th instant relative to curtailing Portland division train service between Lowell and Boston. He has referred the matter to Vice President Barr, who will reply to your further.

Yours truly,
E. Ryder,
President's Secretary.

City Hall Notes

George C. Evans qualified for the office of registrar of voters before City Clerk Flynn this forenoon and then Mr. Evans took off his coat and went to work.

Ex-Mayor Farnham was warmly greeted when he arrived at the hall to take up his position as engineer of the sewer department. He said it seemed good to be on the old trail again.

One case of typhoid fever was reported at the office of the board of health this forenoon.

The inspection of buildings has granted a permit to Eugene Gosselin for the erection of an eight-room cottage, 22 by 28 feet, in Henry avenue. The estimated cost is $1500.

BEATEN AND ROBBED

Noted Characters Arrested But the Victim Unknown

Joseph H. Conlon, otherwise known as Joseph H. Connolly and better known to the police as "Red" Connolly, owing to the color of his hair, and Daniel J. Donahue were arrested before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on complaints charging them with drunkenness and assault and battery on an unknown person. The police are of the opinion that a robbery was committed, but the man who it is alleged was robbed has failed to report the matter to the police. Inasmuch as the principal witnesses for the government were at Lowell this morning Deputy Downey asked for a continuance and the court continued the matter until tomorrow morning.

According to the police Conlon and Donahue while under the influence of liquor met a man in the alleyway between Warren and Hurd streets and after assaulting the man, searched his pockets and took what valuables he had. Two clerks in the employ of Putnam & Son Co. claim that they saw the two men assault the unknown man and search his pockets and rushing into the street the clerks notified Patrolman Michael O'Connell, who knowing both of the alleged offenders, placed them under arrest. When they were sent to the police station they were charged with drunkenness and assault and battery on an unknown person. The police are of the opinion that a robbery was committed, but owing to the failure of the man who was assaulted to prefer a complaint it is practically impossible for the police to prefer the more serious charge.

BAIL REDUCED

Young Women Are Held in $15,000

NEW YORK, June 14.—Bail in the cases of Lillian Graham and Ethel Conrad, charged with the shooting of W. D. Stokes, the millionaire horseman and hotel proprietor, was reduced today from $25,000 to $15,000 each in the West Side police court. A further reduction in bail will be asked for Stokes as he rapidly recovers.

SERIOUS INJURY

Aviator's Arm and Leg
Are Broken

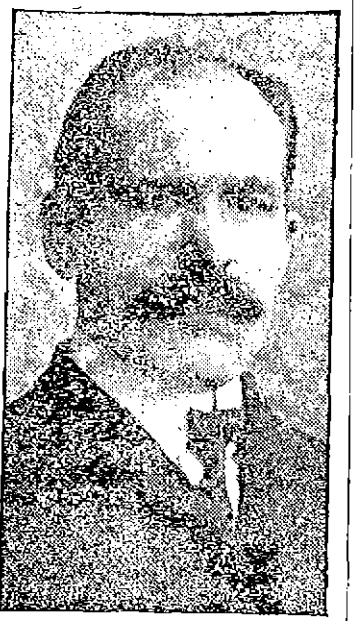

RONCIGLIONE, Italy, June 14.—Here Frey, the only competitor in the Paris-Rome-Turin aviation race to attempt the last leg of the course, lies in the hospital here with his right arm and left leg broken and his lower jaw fractured. In periods of delirium he fights again the battle with the fog that was his undoing yesterday when his aeroplane was wrecked in the mountains near here. He does not appear to have been injured internally and the physicians believe that he will recover, though some six weeks will be required for the mending. The time limit for the race will expire tomorrow.

IN POLICE COURT

Several Offenders Sentenced

Demetrios Velangas was arraigned before Judge Hadley this morning on a complaint charging him with unlawfully using registered milk cans belonging to the Turner Centre Dairy Association and Robert Catherwood. The prosecuting officer explained to the court that inasmuch as the defendant had agreed to enter a plea of guilty that he would ask the court to impose the minimum fine of $5 on one complaint. The court therefore fined the defendant $5.

Drunken Offenders
Margaret Bradbury was charged with drunkenness and entered a plea of guilty. During the course of the testimony it was brought out that the woman had been conducting herself in a proper manner until one week ago when she started to drink and last night was arrested. Her husband felt that she would do better in the future and informed the court that he would attempt to reform her. Judge Hadley then placed the woman on probation.

Changed His Plea

John Boyce, who appeared before the court yesterday and entered a plea of not guilty, was in court again this morning and through his counsel, J. Joseph McElroy, changed the plea to that of guilty. It was explained to the court that the defendant was released from jail last Saturday and accidentally dropped into a saloon Monday and became intoxicated. As a result of the plea made by Lawyer McElroy the defendant was given a sentence of four months in jail and the sentence was suspended and Boyce was placed on probation for one year.

Received Stolen Property

Walter E. Blakely was charged with receiving stolen property. It is alleged that a set of harness was stolen from Jacob A. Gregoire and that the defendant sold the harness to a man in Kenwood for $4. The court after considering the testimony offered found the defendant guilty and ordered him to pay a fine of $12.

Drunken Offenders

William J. Kelleher pleaded guilty to a complaint charging him with being drunk and was given a sentence of three months in jail. After sentence had been imposed he asked that he be sent to the state farm instead of jail and the court allowed a change to be made.

Joseph Roumont was sentenced to six months in jail and two first offenders were fined $2 each.

FINAL MEETINGS

OF THE CONFERENCE OF CHARITIES AND CORRECTION

BOSTON, June 14.—Final section meetings of the 35th annual conference of charities and correction were held today in the various halls around Beacon hill. New phases of the questions which have occupied the attention of the delegates during the past week were taken up during the day.

At the meeting in Lorimer hall, Dr. Frederick H. Hurlbut of the Red Cross hospital, New York, read a paper on "Federal diseases" and Mr. Putnam of Boston talked of "Prison care" to these delegates interested in "Housing and health."

"Organization and co-relation of systems of probation and parole" was the subject of the meeting in Pilgrim hall. The meeting took the form of a formal discussion and was addressed by Amos Butler of Indianapolis, Charles DeCoursey of Boston, F. E. Lyon of Chicago and several others prominent in the work of aiding offenders. The conference will close tonight with a general session in Ford hall.

A REMARKABLE CASE JOSEPH O. GAGNON

Cohane is Sent to the House of Correction Held in $2000 at Boston for Alleged Conspiracy

"The most extraordinary case I have ever handled," were the opening remarks of Probation Officer Russell, when called upon to tell what he knew regarding Cornelius E. Cohane of Lowell, who pleaded guilty in the superior criminal court, East Cambridge, before Judge Hardy yesterday afternoon, to breaking and entering the Billerica water works station and stealing some tools. It was a pathetic tale that was related in the court room, of an unfortunate man who had committed crimes only when under the influence of liquor, which had caused him to spend fourteen of his 10 years of life in prison, with a prospect of being again sentenced.

According to the story, Cohane was sentenced at the age of 23 to five years in state prison for the larceny of a horse and wagon from a Woburn farmer. Shortly after his release he was married. Twenty months later he was sentenced to four and one-half years in state prison for breaking and entering the home of his cousin in Lynn and stealing a shirt, some studs and a lunch from the pantry. He was not sentenced to the same institution for breaking and entering in Tewksbury, where it was claimed he stole a watch and a small amount of money. For this offense he was sent away for four years. In each case where he committed crime there was evidence he was under the influence of liquor and was craving for more drink. Letters were produced from his former employers which spoke in the highest terms of him as a workman. N. A. McMillan, superintendent of the Billerica water works, stated Cohane had been one of the best workmen he had ever had in his employ, and that prior to March 18, 1911, the date on which Cohane broke into the plant, he had always found him absolutely trustworthy. Charles Rushworth, superintendent of coal yards in Lowell, stated he had never had a man in his employ that was as good a workman as Cohane, and told the probation officer that if he got on this offense he would give him a job.

Judge Hardy asked Cohane if he was allowed to go if he would be willing to have his wages paid to his wife. He said he would. Assistant District Attorney Wier stated he felt that a sentence should be imposed inasmuch as the man had already served three sentences in state prison. Judge Hardy thereupon sentenced Cohane to one year in the house of correction, a lighter sentence than he had before experienced.

Joseph O. Gagnon, formerly of Pelham, N. H., who was arrested in this city yesterday by Inspectors Martin Maher and Charles Laflamme of the local police on a warrant charging him with conspiring to steal the property of another and who was later taken to Boston by Inspector Armstrong of police headquarters of Boston, was arraigned before the superior court in Boston yesterday afternoon and after entering a plea of not guilty was ordered to furnish bonds for his appearance at a later date, is now in the Charles street jail, having been unable to secure bail.

It is alleged, as reported in yesterday's issue of The Sun, that Gagnon was one of the three men who worked a film-flam game on Rockwood Snow, better known as "Rocky" Snow, who until recently conducted the Beaver Brook farm in Pelham. Snow, according to his own statement, lost $6000 betting on sure "tips" on the ponies thinking that he was receiving the first information. After he found that he had been dealing with clever sharks he reported the matter to Lawyers D. J. Donahue and George Tove of this city and as a result of their endeavors three indictments were returned by the grand jury sitting in Suffolk county and yesterday Gagnon was arrested.

While Gagnon claims that he knew nothing about the crossroads connected with the game and that he lost $800, himself, when he was arraigned in court yesterday he was held under $2000 bonds. He made several attempts to secure bail, but at the time of going to press this afternoon he had not been bailed.

YEGG IS REARRESTED TWO SUDDEN DEATHS

"One Eyed Dave" Will be Taken to New Hampshire
Mrs. Joseph Marcotte and Mr.
Jos. Boisvert Passed Away

Frank White, alias "One-Eyed Dave," who was one of the seven Yeggs arrested in a raid on a house in Appleton street by Postoffice Inspector Harry Robinson and police officers of this city, was yesterday held in $2000 for the United States circuit court at Concord, N. H., to answer to an indictment returned against him in April, leaving the East Cambridge jail after serving a term for vagrancy imposed by the Lowell district court judge.

MAIL CARRIERS

MAY ANNOUNCE THEIR ARRIVAL
BY BLOWING BUGLES

WASHINGTON, June 14.—To add to the picturesque of country life, rural mail carriers some day may announce their arrival by the blowing of bugles. This suggestion has been made to the post office department by a citizen of New Hampshire, who adds in his letter that the bugle also would serve a useful purpose to giving country dwellers who might wish to purchase stamps from the carrier, knowledge of his proximity.

WAR PRISONERS

Were Released From Penitentiary

FRANK WHITE
Recently Arrested in Lowell

CHICAGO, June 14.—Escorted by a military band, four American prisoners of war, released from the penitentiary Monday night after three months' imprisonment, were publicly acclaimed heroes in the streets yesterday. The men were part of the rebels taken prisoners at Casas Grandes, a couple of months ago.

Governor Gonzalez appeared at the penitentiary with his staff and a federal judge, summarily declared the Americans not guilty. That formality over the prison, which has been the scene of many political crimes, resounded with cheers. The crowd outside took up the cheering and the Americans, followed by two Germans and about 20 Mexicans who also had been freed, marched down the street.

At the Plaza the band played American airs. Governor Gonzalez addressed the former prisoners, thanking them for the part they had taken in the revolution. The Americans then were fairly embraced by those who wished to embrace them.

AT WEST POINT

DIPLOMAS WERE AWARDED TO 23 GRADUATES

WEST POINT, June 14.—Eighty-three young men were graduated from the Military academy into the United States army yesterday, receiving their diplomas and commissions from Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson.

Bad weather prevented the holding of the graduation exercises under the tent. Mr. Stimson and Gen. Barry, superintendent of the academy, made short addresses. Philip Bracken Fleming of Nebraska was the honor man of the graduating class, and he was loudly applauded, as was also Cadet Thomas Jonathan Jackson Christian, a grandson of Gen. Stonewall Jackson.

Two sudden deaths occurred yesterday in this city, when Mrs. Joseph Marcotte died after an illness of 45 minutes, and Mr. Joseph Boisvert passed away after being ill a few hours.

Mrs. Joseph Marcotte, nee Alvina Carpenter, was taken suddenly ill at 11 o'clock last night at her home, 21 Decatur street, and at 11.45 o'clock she passed away. The deceased was 53 years, 7 months and 2 days old. Yesterday she was in the best of health. She went to church early in the morning and received communion, and last night she attended the Holy Hour devotion at St. Jean Baptiste church. She retired about 10 o'clock and an hour later she awoke her husband and complained of being ill. Dr. C. J. Griffin and a priest were summoned. The former gave his patient medical attention, while the latter administered the last rites of the church.

Mrs. Marcotte, however, passed away at 11.45 o'clock. She is survived by her husband and six children, Joseph, Geo. and Eugene, Mrs. Thomas Moore and Misses Delia and Zella Marcotte, all of this city.

The death certificate was signed pulmonary congestion. Mr. Joseph Boisvert, aged 67 years, who was making his home with his daughter, Mrs. Hermine Doucet, 155 Gershom avenue, was taken with an attack of apoplexy yesterday morning and at 12 o'clock last night he passed away. The old gentleman had been enjoying the best of health up to yesterday morning at which time he complained of not feeling well. Dr. R. Mignault was immediately summoned and upon his arrival he discovered that Mr. Boisvert was suffering with apoplexy. Despite the efforts of the doctor, his patient passed away a few hours later.

The deceased is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Hermine Doucet, Miss Blanche Boisvert, both of this city, and Mrs. Anna England of St. Jean, Quebec.

MAN WAS ROBBED CITY ENGINEER

He Was Found Unconscious In Street Gives Appointment to Ex-Mayor Farnham

BOSTON, June 14.—Footpads, during the electrical storm yesterday afternoon, struck A. R. Stewart, of 16 Ferdinand street, South End, over the head with a lead pipe, rifled his pockets and left him lying in a pool of muddy water at West Second and Granite streets, So. Boston. Several hours later, at the City hospital, Stewart recovered consciousness and told the authorities his story. He could not, however, give the slightest clue as to the identity of his assailants.

The hold-up and robbery was one of the most daring of recent years in South Boston. The sidewalk was deserted owing to the great downpour of rain, but the crime was enacted in the vicinity of the busiest section of South Boston where usually scores of men and women are about.

Stewart, his head bowed low to prevent the rain from splashing in his face, was walking rapidly along the street when the highwayman sprang upon him from a nearby doorway. He was felled with a blunt instrument, what the police believe to be a lead pipe, knocked from his feet and his clothing scattered.

Some time later he was found lying in about four inches of muddy water, his clothing ruined and he was bleeding from a wound in his head. The police thought at first he had been struck by lightning and removed him to the City hospital.

FACTORY TO SUSPEND

HUDSON, June 14.—The town of Hudson will lose one of its principal industrial establishments in August next when the E. W. Brigham & Gregory Shoe Co., which has been manufacturing shoes since 1838, will suspend operations. The factory gives employment to 350 operatives.

To relieve conditions I put in a requisition to the civil service commission for more help and the commission authorized me to act in the matter. So, Mr. Farnham has been chosen as this provisional appointee to take charge of the sewers for our office, because he had done this work for a number of years before. Meanwhile the water department and bridge department shall remain as before, under Mr. Nelson. It is only natural to suppose that since we are doing more work than we were some years ago, we should have at least as many men as a few years ago, but such is not the case, even with the addition of Mr. Farnham.

Ex-Mayor Frederick W. Farnham took up his duties this morning as assistant engineer in the office of the city civil engineer.

Discussing the appointment of Mr. Farnham, City Engineer Kearney said: "For a few years back the entire engineering work for the water department, the sewers and the bridges has been under one man, where formerly there was a man for each department. The arrangement now has meant too much work for one man to attend to, especially at this time of year."

CLOSED BUSY YEAR

Annual Meeting of Y. W. C. A.
Held Last EveningOfficers Elected With Exception
of President and Interesting
Report Submitted by Secretary
Alice L. Bachelder

The annual meeting of the Young Women's Christian association was held in Kitchin hall last evening, and officers, with the exception of the president, were chosen as follows:

First vice president, Mrs. S. H. Thompson, in place of Mrs. Francis Carl, resigned.

Second vice president, Miss Ruth Bailey, in place of Mrs. J. G. Buttrick, resigned.

Secretary, Mrs. J. E. Gibson.

Treasurer, Mrs. Burton H. Wiggin.

The following directors, whose terms expire this year, were re-elected: Mrs. Francis Carl, Mrs. J. G. Buttrick, Mrs. S. H. Thompson, Mrs. H. C. Fuller, Mrs. G. L. Hazen, Mrs. D. L. Pope, Mrs. E. J. Fleming.

Members of board of directors to fill vacancies, Mrs. Charles H. Cutler, Mrs. W. E. Hatch and Miss Grace Ward.

The report of the treasurer, Mr. Burton H. Wiggin, showed all bills paid at the close of the year.

Under the rules the election of president is made by the directors ten days after the annual meeting.

After the business session the River look club, the True Blue club and the advanced gymnasium class did some interesting stunts, and Miss Faith Duly gave several readings.

Miss Alice L. Bachelder, secretary of the association, presented a complete report of the year's work, which read in part as follows:

The record of the religious work can but poorly show forth the actual results, which may be known only in hearts and lives that have been touched and changed. Statistics, however, may serve to show some of the forms of activity. The three, daily prayer meetings, for the secretaries, the home girls and the help, have been faithfully conducted. The Sunday afternoon vesper services have had an average attendance of 50, and the informal 20-minute Wednesday noon meetings, 23. During the week of prayer in November, daily meetings were held at noon, led by ministers of the city and averaging 52 in attendance. There has been no series of special evangelistic meetings this year, though the Boston university gospel team came for two Sundays. Six Bible classes have been carried on, with a total enrollment of 123, including the juniors and the mission study class. The secretaries have frequently conducted meetings for churches, young people's or missionary societies, and above all, there has been the effort to make the spirit of Christ felt in every department, in even the least of the activities.

missionary speakers for nine Sunday meetings, among them being Miss Higley of Arizona, Miss Fairbanks of India, and Mr. and Mrs. Dube, natives of Zululand.

Home
During this year our home has accommodated 82 different girls as regular roomers, and 275 transients, besides 16 employees. The same spirit of hospitality and good fellowship has prevailed this year, and many a girl has found the truth of the words which hang over the doorway—'And in this place, well I tell you, Thanksgiving and Christmas were observed for the home girls with appropriate festivities, and a Valentine party given in February. It may be of interest to some to know the nature of the occupations represented by our permanent roomers. They have been from one time 11 mill operatives, eight clerks, eight teachers, five commercial agents, four students, three milliners, three bookkeepers, two seamstresses, two nurses, two dressmakers, two photographers, and one physician, thus showing how widespread is its circle of helpfulness.

Lunch
This department reports another year of success, due to the faithful and efficient management of its director, Mrs. Munsey. The dining room has been crowded most of the time, and the numerous abundant satisfactions. During 11 months—the dining room being closed through August—$7,943 meals were served.

Our membership at the close of this year stands 1051, as against 1038 last year, and is divided as follows: Right life, 50 sustaining, 531 active, 377 as soon as possible and 123 junior. This growth, though not large, may be regarded as normal, the only special effort being a brief one made in November, by the committee and a few extra workers, divided into 12 groups, representing the 12 months.

Financial
Although we have had no financial campaign this year, our treasurer's report again shows a balance at the time of closing the books, and we have much cause for gratitude to God who never has failed us in time of need, that our splendid record of closing every year free from debt, has been maintained.

Needs
While the Lowell association compares favorably with many others in respect to membership, finances and equipment, some of its 'needs' are so obvious that we feel the work must be hampered thereby. One great need in Lowell is a swimming pool; girls are going long distances to learn to swim, and the association could easily supply that need if a pool could be put near the school street lot in the rear of the building, thus connecting with the showers and dressing rooms of the gymnasium.

The dining room and kitchen are very inadequate; the domestic science department should have an outside room, with proper ventilation, for its classes. We need many more good books of fiction in our library; there should also be a game room, where there might be something going on all the time, and girls could make as much noise as they pleased. It is a true but sad fact that after the most exciting thing about a Young Women's Christian Association is the reading of books and piece-making girls might hesitate to invite in their friends to an evening of reading.

The needs could perhaps be summed up in a word—a large street addition to our building, containing the desirable features named above. (For $20,000 such an addition could be built and our work very materially increased.)

Asthma! Asthma!
POPHAM'S ASTHMA REMEDY gives instant relief and an absolute cure in all cases of Asthma, Bronchitis, and Hay Fever. Sold by Druggists; mail on receipt of price $1.00.

HEALTH AND COMFORT FOR MEN
A suspensory helps a lot in hot weather. We have many kinds selling from 25c to $1.00. Auto, O. P. C., Bunker Hill, Lawson and J. P. are a few of the kinds we carry. Jacob's! Straps in cotton cloth, 25c, also the famous 'Black Tom' which will last three to four years, selling at $1.00. Howard the Druggist, 137 Central street. (After shaving, Lillie Cream's a treat.)

The Comfort club, as its name implies, has rendered much unselfish service so quietly has the work been done that few perhaps realize how much has been accomplished. Letters have been written each month to the association missionaries, flowers have been sent, and 200 calls made on the sick and shut-ins, monthly visits made or post-cards sent to the poor farm, the old ladies' home, and the patients in both hospitals; clothes made for poor children, and one of the club members sent to Silver Bay. At Thanksgiving time, generous supplies were delivered to 17 poor families, whose need and worth had been carefully investigated beforehand. A new department this year has been the 'Big Sister' movement, started by this club, whereby each member chooses some poor child to whom to act as a big sister, visiting her, placing her in Sunday school, and interesting herself in all the child's needs, both material and spiritual. This, of course, is modeled after the 'Big Brother' project, and each Saturday afternoon the little sisters have an hour for a little story, a romp in the gymnasium and elementary instruction in sewing or cooking, with most creditable results.

The True Blue club has continued its monthly meetings, and has raised the money to clothe a little poor child. The Junior club, the 'Buds of Pomegranate', has met as usual on Saturday afternoon for instruction in sewing, cooking and housekeeping, or for gymnastic games.

A new club this year is the River-look club, composed of those girls who are interested in the summer camp. Their activities throughout the year have included 24-triplets, picnics, and other social affairs, in which every practical effort to improve camp, one result being the purchase of a new boat and two new handkerchiefs. This club numbers 75 members, our total club membership up to 185.

Summer Work
'Northwood', our summer home at Newell, was open for the month of August, under the direction of one of the secretaries, and 27 guests were accommodated. Two groups of girls were again sent on a two-weeks' vacation trip to Beverly, and again Camp River-look on the Concord river, opened its hospitable doors to many Lowell girls, who found there rest and recreation, the total registration being 813. This camp, with its pine trees, its stamper-stamp, sleeping tent, handkerchiefs on the table, and other attractions, dear to nature-loving souls, has proved a boon to weary girls, and has become a very large part of our summer work.

Junior
The junior membership of the association is 123, many of whom are enrolled in the younger gymnasium classes; most of the 4-hour work for juniors aside from this has been done with the Buds of Pomegranate, already mentioned; they were also the privileged guests of the educational committee

THIS IS FLAG DAY

The State is Holding the First
Official Observance Today

BOSTON, June 14.—For the first time since the design of the stars and stripes was adopted as the national emblem of the United States, 121 years ago today, Massachusetts will observe this anniversary by the official proclamation of the governor.

Each year, June 14, which is observed more or less throughout the nation now, is the anniversary of the adoption of the stars and stripes by congress in 1777. No attention was paid to it throughout the history of the nation till within 25 years or so, when the address of patriotic observers that came with the multiplication and growth of patriotic societies throughout the country led to the gradual introduction into the public schools of certain ceremonies with regard to the flag, not only on the anniversary, but in many cases at other times during the year, particularly the day before great national holidays, or on days of national historical significance which are not holidays.

In 1897 members of the flag committee of several of the revolutionary and colonial societies met in New York and took steps that led within a year thereafter to the formation of the American flag association, which now has chapters in most of the states of the Union. The association is made up of representatives of practically all of the patriotic societies, including those relating to the Civil war and the Spanish war.

The actual organization of the flag association was effected in New York city last Feb. 18, 1898, its object being the fostering of public sentiment in favor of honoring the national flag and preserving it from desecration.

Ever since its birth, the society, through its branches in different states, has been striving to obtain legislation to prevent desecration of the flag by the thoughtless or the unprincipled, and at present 35 states and the Federal government of Porto Rico have adopted such legislation. Not yet in 2000 all the New England states have passed such laws.

For upward of 10 years prior to the formation of the American flag association, flag committees of patriotic societies, particularly the G. A. R., had been steadily arousing the interest of the public in the importance of the flag by congress, and as such as the flag association was started it began to broaden and extend the observance by putting it upon a quasi observance of the day on the governments in the various states.

There has been no halting in the efforts of the officers along that line. Each year has seen some new state government take official notice of the day, till now a large part of them call on the people by gubernatorial proclamation, to set every available flag free to the breeze on that day.

This year Massachusetts has joined the procession as a result of a law passed by the legislature now sitting through flag day has been observed in Boston, if not in the other towns and cities of the commonwealth, by exercises in the public schools for more than 20 years.

It is probable that with the passing of the years the day will grow to be observed more generally and with more varied ceremonial than at present. Today, the first official flag day in Massachusetts, will be observed with impressive exercises by the Boston lodge of Elks at its headquarters in Somerset street, the flag and floral decorations will be most elaborately.

It is an interesting and significant coincidence that the National Lancer celebrate their anniversary with a parade today and that the anniversary of the birth of Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe, the immortal author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," is to be celebrated this evening in the Faneuil hall, making the appropriate observances for the nation day of the country's flag.

Corner Stone Exercises at St. Margaret's Church

Discovered on Italian Steamer That Reached New York Today

On Account of Serious Illness of Rev. Fr. Harkins Who is at the Carney Hospital in Boston —Rev. Fr. Riordan, New Curate, Assumes Charge

A meeting of the men of St. Margaret's parish has been called for this evening to complete plans for the laying of the corner stone of the church at Sunday afternoon but present indications point to a postponement of the exercises on account of the serious illness of Rev. Fr. Harkins, who is confined at the Carney hospital, South Boston. The X-rays were applied yesterday, but the results were unsatisfactory, and under no circumstances will Fr. Harkins be able to officiate at today's services. For that reason many of the parishioners believe in the postponement of the event until such time as the pastor can be present, as came here unknown and stated the risk of organizing the parish. In a wonderfully short space of time he accomplished great results and had a nucleus of which promises to be one of the leading parishes in Lowell. Many of his parishioners believe that should have the pleasure of officiating personally at the laying of the corner stone and thus in all probability tonight's meeting will decide upon a postponement.

Rev. Henry C. Riordan, the new curate of St. Margaret's, arrived at the rectory yesterday and will attend to the spiritual wants of the parish during the absence of Fr. Harkins, assisted on Sunday by priests from the Oblate Novitiate at Tewksbury who officiated last Sunday. Fr. Riordan was ordained at Boston last week. He is a native of the Gate of Heaven parish, in South Boston, the pastor of which, Rev. Robert Johnson, is a former Lowell man.

St. Columba's Work on the new St. Columba's church is proceeding rapidly. The steam heating plant being installed by Carroll Bros is nearly completed. The recent bazaar was a grand financial success.

NEW YORK, June 14.—A ship with to Swinburne Island and the Europa a case of cholera came to port today, will be disinfected.

The Italian line steamer Europa from Genoa and Naples dropped anchor off the coast of New York today and reported that a steerage passenger was on board suffering from cholera. The patient is on his way this morning, the steerage passenger-way to recover. The Europa, with its passengers and the stewards having been transferred to Hoffman Island. The ship will be held at quarantine for the crew will remain on board under observation. The patient will be removed to the ship's surgeon.

WOMAN MURDERED

Her Husband Has Been Placed Under Arrest

NEW YORK, June 14.—William Simmonds, a night engineer on the New York Central Railroad, was arrested upon his return to White Plains last night after his last run between New York and Albany and locked up pending an investigation of the alleged murder of his wife.

The officials of Westchester county, aided by the police of White Plains, have thrown out a diabolical net for the murder of Mrs. William Simmonds, 26 Hunt place, White Plains. The crime was one of the most brutal ever perpetrated in this section of the country.

The husband, an extra-list engineer of the Harlem division of the New York Central Railroad, secretary of the board of directors of the White Plains fire department and member of half a dozen prominent fraternal organizations, told a detailed story of his movements during his absence from the house in the hours that the crime was committed that set up a complete alibi for him.

Neighbors told of several attempts by unknown men to force an entrance to the Simmonds home late at night, when the husband was away upon his duties. Others related the fear that had been placed upon the housewives of the nearby tenement street in which the Simmonds home stands by the peculiar actions of several tramps that had recently infested the neighborhood, and declared that suspicion could only point toward those men.

During the day the husband reported to Under Sheriff W. J. Doyle and to County Detective Walter Scott the discovery of his wife's corpse, empty, although he knew it had contained at least $15 on Friday.

Coroner Squires, who performed a preliminary examination of the body and arranged for an inquest within a few days, declared positively that the woman was the victim of a cruel and brutal murderer. He expressed the belief that the murderer was not actuated by the motive of robbery, but had assaulted the woman in anger or passion, and also that the slayer was very familiar with the premises.

Evidence obtained by the authorities showed that the rear door to the house was unlocked when the body was discovered and that the key was missing. They believe the murderer entered the house through this door and escaped the same way.

"I am convinced that Mrs. Simmonds was murdered and that the motive was not robbery," said Coroner Squires, of Ossining, last night. "I have purposely postponed the inquest in order that the facts may be brought out if possible. The husband told a straight story of his movements and established a satisfactory alibi."

The facts developed by the investigation are these:

Early yesterday a woman peddler called at the Simmonds house. Violet May Simmonds, aged 6 years, opened the door and said:

"My mamma does not want anything, she is sick." This remark was heard by Mrs. Walter Knapp, who resides next door. She said to the child: "Ask your mamma, dear, if I can do anything for her." The baby girl went upstairs to the bedroom occupied by her mother at the head of the stairway, and adjoining that in which the two babies slept. Soon she returned and said to Mrs. Knapp:

"Mamma won't talk to me and her nose is bleeding." Mrs. Knapp, sure that something was wrong, stepped across and tried to enter through the front door. This was locked. Then she went around to the rear, and finding the door unlocked, went in and up the stairs. She described what she found substantially as follows:

"Although it was 11 o'clock in the morning, the room was very dark. I found Mrs. Simmonds lying on her back across the bed, with her head toward the wall and her feet projecting over the edge of the bed. She was lying upon her face, with her left arm doubled beneath her head and her right arm extended lengthwise, the hands clasping her prayer beads.

"I shook her gently and called to her. There was no response, and then I suddenly realized that the arm was cold and rigid. I ran out and called my brother, who summoned the doctor and corner. They said she was dead."

Husband Tells of Movements

When the husband was asked to tell what he knew he talked readily, explaining to his movements until he left the house to answer a night summons at 3:30 o'clock Monday night. He said:

"Before leaving home my wife fixed me up a light cup of tea and some cookies and then packed up a lunch for me. We left the kitchen together and I turned out the gas as we walked toward the front of the house. At the front door we said good-bye. About a block away I thought of my lunch that I had left in the house and returned to get it. As I came in and opened the front door with my latch key my wife came to the top of the stairs and asked what time I expected to return from my run. I told her some time Tuesday afternoon. Then I explained I had forgotten my lunch, got the package and left again through the front door. That was the last time I saw my wife for when I got back today she was dead and they told me of it before I got home. I had taken No. 29 to West Albany for repairs."

During the night a brown water spout belonging to the Knapp family next door to the Simmonds was very restless and awakened the family by his barking. But they heard no unusual sounds and did not release the dog.

A pretty June wedding took place this morning at a nuptial mass in John's church, North Chelmsford, when Josephine E. McCabe, the popular organist of the church, was united the holy bonds of matrimony to William H. Quigley, a well known resident of the town. The bridal party ended the church to the strains of Benjamin's wedding march, played by the organ. The bride, Josephine, niece of the groom, the mass was celebrated and the ceremony performed by Rev. Fr. Schofield, pastor of the church. At the offertory Miss Quigley rendered a beautiful "Ave Maria." At the close of the mass Fr. Schofield invoked his blessing on the newly wedded couple and spoke brief words of congratulation and advice to them. As the bridal party was leaving, church Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Miss Quigley. A. J. W. McKennedy of St. Peter's

THORP LETTER

Figured In Bull Will Case Today

ALFRED, Me., June 14.—The letter written by Joseph G. Thorp to his sister, Mrs. Ole Bull on March 1, 1905, in which was mentioned an episode concerning a Japanese which had occurred in Mrs. Bull's studio house at Cambridge was read before Judge Nathaniel Hobbs in private chambers today at the hearing on the Bull will case.

This is the letter about which Mr. Thorp with some show of feeling last night said:

"This matter involves persons other than the Japanese, and I decline to answer any questions with respect to it."

He was willing to tell the court privately what it was about and was given the opportunity this morning. Mr. Whipple announced that he wished to show something of Mrs. Bull's mental attitude and condition and the peculiarities of her mind. He then declared it was understood that Mr. Thorp criticized her action in allowing the Japanese to come to the house.

One of the most important letters of the case, according to the attorneys, was read during the forenoon. It was from Mrs. Vaughan to Mr. Thorp, who was addressed as "Dear Uncle Joe" and was written at West Lebanon on April 21, 1911. It called Mr. Thorp severely to account for the wide publicity given the contents of the letter charged him with using the name of the famous violinist to exploit himself and discussed at length the clause of the will providing for the cremation of Mrs. Bull's body and the scattering of the ashes over the grave of Ole Bull in Norway. The letter in part was as follows:

"Those who loved and would have protected her were shut away from her and you claim that you were careful to know nothing whatever of the terms of the will or to influence her in any way. This leaves the undesirable burden of responsibility on Mr. Parker alone, whose position in the matter is as difficult to understand as the documents themselves."

"The entire will is contradictory, full of evidently intentional obscurities calculated to mislead anyone reading it as regards my mother's estate and sent the ashes to Norway, as he was requested not to do so by Mrs. Vaughan."

COURT DEFIED

Woman Answers Appeal of Child

PITTSBURG, June 14.—After listening all day to the childish appeals for her to come, Mrs. Andrew W. Mellon defied her husband and the court by rushing to Sewickley and joining her little ones at the Richard R. Quay home, to which they were taken by judicial order.

Aista Mellon, five years old, is the little one whose urgings compelled Mrs. Mellon to seek her children, if only for a time. Throughout Monday night the child was hysterical and cried for the mother from whom she had been separated by constables amid stormy scenes on the porches and lawns surrounding the Mellon mansion.

Since being elected from her millionaire husband's home, the wife from whom he seeks a divorce has been the guest of a Mrs. Crawford, whose home adjoins that of the Mellons. Throughout the night the Crawford phone rang and each time it was the child's nurse or the little one herself at the other end begging for the mother.

"Mamma, why can't you come with us?" the little one cried, ignorant of the nature of the unpleasantness that has separated her parents.

The mother spent the night in weeping, and this morning when the weak little voice at the other end continued its appeal, she waited no longer. She remains with the mother.

Mrs. Mellon charges that her husband last fall tried to kidnap the children. Only her discovery of ten automobiles drawn up before her home to carry them and their effects away frustrated the plan.

GAGNON ARRESTED

Alleged to Have Conspired to Steal Another's Property

"Rocky" Snow Was "Touched" for $6000—He Visited Alleged Poolroom in Boston to Play the Races—Gagnon Denies Charge and Says That He Lost $800

Rockwood G. Snow, better known as "Rocky" Snow, who until a short time ago conducted a large produce farm in Pelham, was recently "touched" for $6000 in cold cash by an alleged gang of so-called pool room sharks who make their headquarters in Boston, according to the police and as a result of an investigation yesterday Jos. C. Gagnon, who also at one time conducted a resort in Pelham and on another occasion ran a hotel in the vicinity of Lakeview, was arrested yesterday by Inspectors Martin Maher and Charles Latham on a warrant charging Gagnon with conspiring to steal the property of another.

Gagnon was arrested in a house in Cambridge street shortly after noon and early in the afternoon he was taken in custody by Inspector Armstrong. Gagnon, who is alleged to have been in the police headquarters in Boston and will be arraigned in the Hub today.

Snow was the owner of Beaver Brook farm in Pelham and besides doing a big produce business his place was the scene of many outings and thousands of people have visited "Rocky's" place on different occasions. A short time ago Snow decided to sell the farm and as a result of the sale he realized a neat sum.

Gagnon, who it is alleged lived near Snow's place for a number of years and was well acquainted with the latter, is said to have told Snow that he knew a place in Boston where the reports of the horse races were received and that having been "let on the inside" was willing to give Snow a chance to play the game and make a little pile of money.

The game which it is alleged was worked by Gagnon, "is as old as the hills" and in substance is that a gang of men get together and by claiming to be able to tap the wires which carry the results of the races, can make "sure thing" bets. After considering the proposition put up to him, it is said that Snow fell for it and made a trip to Boston and bet $6000 on the ponies with the result that he lost it all.

It is alleged by the police that Gagnon engineered the game and it was through Gagnon's advice that he placed his money on the ponies.

When Snow lost his pile he reported the matter to the police and the latter after making a careful investigation swore out a warrant against Gagnon.

It is alleged that when Gagnon was arrested this noon he claimed he had nothing to do with any crooked work that might have been connected with the game and said that he, himself, lost $800.

Gagnon is well known to the police, having for some time conducted a house in Pelham which was on the state line and surrounded by electric bells which would warn the occupants of the house of the approach of the police. He also had several large dogs which prevented persons coming too near the premises.

NARROW ESCAPE

YACHT WAS NEARLY CRUSHED BY A STEAMER

BOSTON, June 14.—A small schooner yacht containing three men had a close call from being crushed under the bow of the British steamer Buckminster in Vineyard sound Monday during the worst fog of the year. The Buckminster was nearly abreast of Nobsquam when the yacht drove across her starboard, escaping disaster by only a few inches.

When the Buckminster reached here yesterday afternoon, her officers said the men on board the yacht did not appear much concerned. They were all on deck and two of them were puffing away at their pipes as though nothing had happened. These on the steamer say the men on the yacht were not sounding their fog horn.

The Buckminster went to the cable works in Everett, where she will haul 1600 tons of cable for Havana.

Feet Feel Fine

No More Sore, Tired, Aching, Burning, Weary Feet Since EZO Came to Lowell

Perhaps you have tried them all, but EZO is different.

It's a refreshing and refined ointment and is so full of medicinal value that the poorest pair of tired, worn out, all in feet will feel better in two minutes. And so easy to apply—no fussing around—just rub it on and rub out all the pain and burning. It's for corns, bunions and callouses also, and the quick relief it gives will make you wonder why you never heard of it before.

EZO is the one sure certain maker of happy feet. It's the real thing to make feet as good as new over night. If your work forces you to stand on your feet most of the day you simply can't be happy till you get a 25 cent jar of EZO.

Druggists everywhere sell it. Generous jar for a quarter—substitutes won't do, mail orders filled, charges prepaid. From Ezo Chemical Co., Rochester, N. Y.

Several years ago, however, the New Hampshire police made a raid on the place and decided in getting into the place despite the meshwork of wires and the dogs, and they made arrests, the occupants of the house being convicted in the New Hampshire courts.

The Game Shortly after Mr. Snow sold his farm, it is said, Gagnon called on him with a friend whom he introduced as Smith. Smith, it is alleged, said he had a friend at Boston who worked in a telegraph office and could arrange it so that the news of the pony races in New York could be held back from the pool rooms and communicated to Snow and his friends in time to let them get to the pool room and bet. The result of the races would then be allowed to get to the pool room and Snow and his friends would win.

It so happened that Snow would lose and he would then be told that he had made a mistake in the arrangement, that is, if he played a horse to win he would be told that he should have been played to pass, etc.

He went there three days and lost over $2000 each day, he says. Gagnon also lost, or was supposed to have lost about $800.

The other two friends of Mr. Snow are not yet arrested, but as they are supposed to be professionals from New York the Boston police expect to get them at any time.

Daniel J. Donahue and George F. Toye who were consulted by Snow, brought Snow before the grand jury of Suffolk county and obtained indictments.

LIEUT. COM.

BENNETT

Lowell Naval Officer Revisits His Home

But Leaves For New Duties in Washington Tomorrow—Lieut. Bennett Has Had a Most Interesting Career—Served With Admirals Samson and Dewey

Lieutenant-Commander Ernest L. Bennett, one of Lowell's few naval men of prominence, will leave tomorrow for Washington, where he has been assigned to shore duty in the bureau of steam engineers of the navy. Lieut. Bennett has been at his home, 173 Branch street, since June 1, one of the longest vacations he has ever had since entering the service, and his new duties in Washington will probably constitute the longest period on shore that he has ever experienced in his career, as he has spent most of his time at sea, his longest previous being the Spanish-American war. "When I first went aboard the New York she was considered one of the biggest ships in the navy and yet at the recent trip around the world I saw 16 battleships twice her size which shows you how the navy has developed since the close of the Spanish-American war. I expect in years to come the Delaware and North Dakota, the great dreadnoughts of the present, will be replaced by even greater ships. Our navy has developed wonderfully in 10 years."

Speaking of his new position in the bureau of steam engineers Lieut. Bennett said: "Prior to 1890, the navy had a special board of steam engineers who did this line of work exclusively. But since that time all officers take their turn at it. In the old days the captain was at the mercy of his chief engineer while no one thoroughly understood that feature himself. More attention is given to it at the Academy and the officer gets the practical experience when he goes to sea."

When the big fleet recently went around the world Lieut. Bennett was the chief engineer of the Virginia, one of the fleet, and after completing the voyage was transferred to the Connecticut on which he remained until the beginning of the month when he left for Newport.

An interesting fact in connection with his trip around the world is that Mrs. Bennett has followed her husband around the world in the merchant marine. They have no children while Mrs. Bennett has a son, a son-in-law, and a daughter-in-law. "About every two months we would have a reunion in one port or another or as often as she could make connections. There are a few parts in the world that I have not visited but they are not many," Mrs. Bennett is a Brooklyn girl but she spends most of her time traveling while her husband is away. They intend to establish a permanent residence in Washington while Lieut. Bennett is on duty there. Lieut. Bennett has served under two of the great admirals of the present time for in 1904 he was assigned to the staff of Admiral Dewey aboard the Mayflower when the fleet assembled in the West Indies for a sort of sham campaign.

SENATE LEADER AND MAYOR REYBURN SAID TO BE AT WAR

PHILADELPHIA, June 14.—United States Senator Boies Penrose and Mayor Reeburn of Philadelphia are on the verge of open warfare, according to reports here. Mayor Reeburn is said to desire two things which Penrose opposes—he wants to go to the United States senate, and he is working to secure the nomination of Recorder Vane to succeed himself (Reeburn) as mayor. Senator Penrose sees a danger to his personal ambitions in the great accession of power for the Vane brothers which will follow the election of the recorder and the consequent selection of the men who will be the principal factors in the new administration. Mayor Reeburn has indicated clearly in an interview that he and the Vares were in close alliance. He authorized Mr. Vane and showed that he believed him fitted to take up the burden of carrying out his scheme of comprehensive city improvement, which lies so close to his heart. Senator Penrose knows that Mr. Reeburn has his eyes fixed on Washington, where he has had a home for many years and where he has just sent his son to occupy the seat formerly held in the house. The election of Vane as mayor would give Reeburn a firm grip on a large delegation in the state legislature.

DELMONT VS. LEE

Big Bout in Lowell on Friday Evening

On account of tomorrow being circus night the Lowell Social and Athletic club has postponed its meeting until Friday evening when the principal attraction will be a 12-round bout between M. Delmont, one of the cleverest fighters in the country, and Kid Lee of Chelsea, who has been doing some great work in the west.

Mary have been asking who Kid Lee is, and the following from a Boston paper of recent date will explain:

Kid Lee, the Chelsea bantam-weight, who has been in Denver, Colo., for the past six months, arrived home today, and immediately made it known that he would like to secure matches with any of the boys in this vicinity weighing in the neighborhood of 110 to 125 pounds. Lee was successful in his hunt at Denver, twice whipping Young Eidenbain, the Denver featherweight, who held Jimmy Walsh to a 16 round no-decision bout at Chelsea.

Lee was a good boxer before he left for the west and with the improvement that he says he has taken on he is in a fair way to make several of those that think they have the bantam-weight situation closed up, sit up and take note. "Any one around 125 pounds will suit me, and if they want to go lower than that, why 115 pounds will be all right for me," says Lee.

The Chelsea bantam-weight is very desirous of securing a match with Johnny Condon, and says that the closing down on the game at Denver was the only thing that prevented him from meeting Condon as the promoters there had already planned to stage a Condon-Lee bout.

Delmont is too well known to need an introduction. Suffice it to say he has fought two draws with Jimmie Walsh, the world's champion bantam. Two good preliminaries have been arranged. The bouts will be called at 8:15 sharp and will be for members $2 to 7.

WOMAN ESCAPED

WALKED OUT OF PRISON PLACE OF ANOTHER

BOSTON, June 14.—Margaret Law, of Dudley street, Roxbury, walked out of the City prison on Somerset street yesterday morning leaving in her cell a companion for the night to face the charge of shop-lifting, upon which she herself was to have been arraigned.

The other woman was arrested at previous evening for intoxication, and it was her first offense. She was scheduled for release early yesterday morning under the probation system. The watchman apparently anticipated this, and when the probation matron called the name of the companion, who was sound asleep, the latter woman answered, "That's my name" and was released. The discovery of the shift was not made and an attempt was made to prosecute the other woman for shoplifting.

ANOTHER BILL

PASSED OVER VETO OF THE GOVERNOR

BOSTON, June 14.—The fourth bill to pass over the veto of Governor Ross, passed through the legislature yesterday. It was the prison-keepers' and turnkey's salary bill. The senate approved increasing their salaries by a vote 20 to 7.

OVERRIDING THE GOVERNOR'S VETOES

Governor Foss has sent over a dozen vetoes to the legislature, and of these three have been overridden. These have been the civil service examination bill, the medical milk commission bill and the bill to increase the wages of laborers employed by the metropolitan boards to $2.25 per day. This fixing of the rate of wages in any department is one of the most flagrant violations of the fundamental principles of law that could be imagined. It is a well known fact that employees differ as to their value to a department and that wages, like the prices of commodities, rise and fall with changing conditions. The other city departments will now endeavor to push their pay up to the figure fixed by the legislature. It is an unwarranted interference with the business of the city of Boston, and one that is sure to result in future confusion and demoralization to the various departments.

SENATE WILL PASS RECIPROCITY BILL

It is now expected that President Taft will be able to carry the reciprocity agreement with Canada through the senate by a substantial majority. At first it seemed doubtful if the measure would be carried but the opposing forces have been whipped into line or at least pacified to such an extent that it is now believed the measure will be adopted by a majority of thirty.

According to the New York Tribune, the senators from only eleven of the forty-six states are solidly arrayed against the bill, while senators from six states are divided. The eleven states are New Hampshire, Vermont, Michigan, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Idaho, Wyoming, Utah, Kansas and Louisiana. The six whose senators are divided are Maine, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Iowa, Montana, and Texas. It would appear from this list that the opposition to the reciprocity bill is not so widespread as at first supposed.

POPULAR ELECTION OF SENATORS

The action of the United States senate in voting to submit its future destiny to the will of the people is one of the most important political events of the new century. It foreshadows the day when popular government will be supreme, when neither the money bags nor the political machines can elect or defeat candidates against the will of the people. The senate on Monday voted 64 to 24 in favor of an amendment to the constitution providing for the popular election of members of that body.

During the past sixteen years the senate on four different occasions turned down this same proposition, while the national house as often voted in favor of the change. In 1902 the house voted unanimously in favor of this amendment and will doubtless do so in the present instance in concurrence with the action of the senate. The various states had apparently given up hope of united action by congress and hence no less than twenty-nine states have passed resolutions in favor of the amendment and authorizing congress to call a convention for the purpose of proposing an amendment. Of the remaining seventeen states only two have failed to show sympathy with the movement by instructing their legislatures or by planks in their party platforms. At present at least thirty states are instructing their legislatures by direct vote as to the most eligible candidates for the senate.

The Bristow amendment tacked on to the motion passed by the senate would give congress control of senatorial elections. The states have the right to elect their own senators in their own way and congressional control would be an unwarranted interference with the rights of the states which the latter will not tolerate.

This firm determination of a majority of the states has evidently convinced the senate that it would be useless to hold out any longer against the popular will. The change is now assured just as soon as it can be carried out in the regular way by the ratification of three-fourths of the states by their respective legislatures or conventions. This action of the United States senate may have been prompted at this juncture by the Lorimer case and others that have of late cast suspicion upon the propriety of certain senators and the legality of the methods by which they secured election. Senators may have been able to corrupt legislatures, but they will not be able to corrupt the entire people of any state except the state be very small. When it has come to pass that corporations will put up $100,000 or even a greater amount to elect a man who can be relied upon to be their pliant tool, it is time some changes were made. The action by the United States senate is coincident with the decision of the Massachusetts legislature to have all state officers chosen by direct vote of the people. Thus it appears that all over this country there is a great movement for reform in the direction of making the government of city, state and nation more responsive to the will of the people. That is the leading issue throughout the country today. The government of our American cities was rotten to the core and through that rottenness the government of the states and even of the nation became tainted with corruption, while the people were powerless to apply the remedy. The political bosses and party machines were the final arbiters and hence the people were ignored or set at defiance. The people of England that live under a constitutional monarchy have been able to dictate the affairs of government to such an extent that no sovereign and no parliament would dare ignore or disobey a popular mandate. Not so in this country, however. Once the officials were elected in most cases they did as they pleased, often showing the utmost disregard for the will of the people. All this is soon to be changed and the adoption of the commission charter is one of the methods by which the people are to be put in the saddle as it were, while the political machines, cliques and factions will have to go to the rear. The voters of this country may not realize the fact but the time is at hand when their power and their responsibility as citizens will be vastly increased; and upon the intelligence and honesty exercised in the use of this power will depend whether we shall promptly reach the highest ideals of government, or whether our progress in breaking away from the corrupt or inefficient methods, will be discouragingly slow. Anyhow, it is plain that we are moving in the right direction and in this widespread crusade for better government the watchword of every progressive city should be "onward."

SEEN AND HEARD

A farmer finds a $1 bill and appropriates it by right of discovery to himself. He goes to town and pays it to a newspaper man on what he owed him. The newspaper man hands it over to a merchant to settle his account, the merchant pays his and the bill with it, and the farmer pays it back to the original owner to finish paying for a coat he had bought, after which the farmer takes it to the bank and discovers it to be counterfeit, and on the ensuing Sunday puts it into the missionary collection. Query: Are all these bills cancelled by the spurious $10—Hiram's World.

"You will find soap and clean towels in the locker when you get through. The plumber, surprised in a way he had never felt before, to the astonishment of the business man, answered a few minutes later with his face beaming with dirt and grease:

"Why in the world did you threaten your face up again after you had washed yourself?" the business man asked.

"Grimacing guiltily, the plumber replied: "I went back to the office with a clean face the boss would think I had been washing on the job!"—Youngstown Telegram.

CHILDREN AT PRAYER

So many selfish thoughts in modern times.

So many selfish trifles in each day. Have held me to their level, that at last I can not pray.

But kneeling here in answer to my text, Are my sweet intercessors! All my cares

And selfish thoughts roll from me as I plead— "Lord, hear their prayers."

—Eugene Johnson in "Success Magazine."

Ten Tynan, warden of the Colorado penitentiary, does not believe in punishment for revenge. He is quoted as follows in an article in "Success Magazine":

"We've got to get away from the old 'get even' idea. Imprisonment isn't society's revenge upon the offending individual, but society's effort to correct and reclaim. The penitentiary that releases unimproved and un-reformed men, not only a millstone about the taxpayer's neck, but a menace to the society that it is supposed to protect. Instead of spending broken, revengeful men back into the world, in no wise reformed, but stouly resolved to greater cunning, we must send back mended men, eager and willing to be of use. Reclamation—not further damnation."

The penitentiary should be the last resort. Many a man is doing time when justice would have better served had he been guided from the bench. The trial judge now has the power to parole in misdemeanor cases. The law should be extended so as to take in felonies. What if a man has stolen to get medicine for a sick wife? I have a fellow who's doing three years for that very thing. What if there is technical fault without criminal intent? What if it is a first offense attended by unusual or mitigating circumstances? Right there—in the court room—is where such men should be given another chance. What's the danger? The sentence hangs over them and they live under the eye of the law. If they fail to make good, or if it turns out that confidence has been falsely reposed they can be re-arrested and imprisoned without further proceedings."

think of them. If these people could only forget themselves and think of others, they would be surprised to see what freedom, ease and grace they would gain; what success in life they would achieve.

Thousands of young people are held back from undertaking what they long to do, and are kept from trying to make real their life-dreams, because they are afraid to jostle with the world. They shrink from exposing their sore spots and sensitive points, which smart from the lightest touch. Their supersensitiveness makes rewards of them.

issued to the police force by any one, either verbally or in writing, making any change in the equipment of members of the force as to clubs, nightsticks or revolvers."

In his address to the graduating class of Syracuse university Chancellor Bryan for his utterance of two weeks ago, that "no man is permitted to acquire more money than will serve the community," Chancellor Day said:

"A certain man had a spasm the other day, a man whom the people have refused time and again to place in the position as adviser at the head of the country, yet he kept on handing out chunks of his wisdom. A fortnight ago Mr. Bryan said that no man should have more money than he can serve his country with. How much is that? How is it to be determined how much money a man can serve the community with? That is a vast question. That statement arouses suspicion, and the man must be insane who makes such an utterance. The statement is characteristically vague, dismissive and meaningless."

The chancellor then referred to the parable of the one talent, and continuing said: "That is the philosophy of Mr. Bryan. I should like to ask him how much a man can earn for the good of society. That gentleman never reached the place where he had to divide up with the community. You are not likely to either, and you won't need to have that worry you."

CIRCUS PARADE

WILL LEAVE THE FAIR GROUNDS AT 10 A. M.

The first section of Ringling Brothers' circus train will arrive in Lowell shortly after midnight tonight. To circus people this train is known as "The Flying Squadron." It carries the hotel and the kitchen outfit, and the people and horses necessary to transport it to the show grounds and have breakfast ready by the time the other trains arrive.

The second train will bring the parade equipment. On the third will come the many shops and offices, the majority of the horses and the tents. The tons of ring properties, the poles, stakes, seat planks, grandstands, draft wagons and menagerie will come on the fourth train. The last train will bring the performers, the business staff, the ring horses, the elephants and the camels. This section is expected long before 8 o'clock. By that time covers will be laid in the canvas during room for 1250 people, 150 gallons of coffee will be boiling, 500 pounds of pork chops will be sizzling and later will be made for 5000 pancakes.

After the unloading and the building of the circus canvas, the next event of the day will be the parade. It will leave the show grounds promptly at 10 o'clock and wind through the principal business streets. It will be three miles long. It would take columns to adequately describe it. It is all new and it bears the Ringling trade mark. No further guarantee is needed.

There will be two performances. The afternoon performance will begin at 2 o'clock. The night show will begin at 8 o'clock. The doors will be opened an hour earlier to give visitors an opportunity of seeing the greatest traveling zoological display in the world. Tiny Tom Tinker, the small elephant in the world, will be there and, besides, an elephant 211 years old. During the hour between the opening of the doors and the beginning of the regular performance there will be a popular concert by Albert C. Sweet's military band.

Early in the morning a downtown ticket office will be opened in Powers' building. Reserved seats and admissions can be bought there at the regular price.

WOODS SEARCHED

For Saco, Me., Man Who is Missing

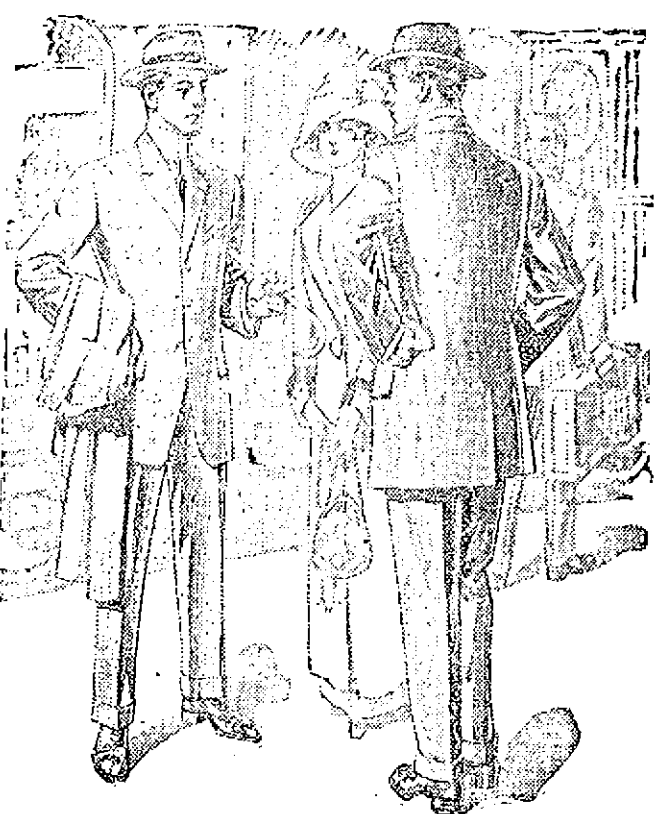

SACO, Me., June 11.—A posse of officers, commanded by City Marshal Coughlin, all heavily armed, left this city last night at 10 o'clock in an automobile to search the woods for Mr. Snyder, of the firm of Calhoun & Snyder, who, it is feared, was held up and killed by two armed highwaymen in the woods near the Saco river.

Mr. Snyder's partner, arrived in this city at 5:30 last evening after an exciting meeting with the bandits. He was on his route during the day and while he was passing along the Saco river in his wagon two men came out of the woods near the Sawyer school-house and stopped his horse. He was unarmed, and they presented pistols, which they aimed at his head, and told him to dismount. He gave them $25, all the money he had in his possession, and after warning him to go right along, the highwaymen darted back into the underbrush.

Mr. Calhoun reported the robbery to City Marshal Coughlin, and then learned that his partner was missing. Mr. Snyder was also out on his route and it is feared the highwaymen met him while he was returning to Saco and held him up, as he ordinarily would have been back from his work at 6 o'clock. The police believe the robbers took his wagon and drove away. Maurice Levin, a fruit dealer, who lives in this city, told the officers that while he was driving along the Saco road on his way to Saco last night he saw two men lurking in the shadows beside the road. He heard one of them say: "Here comes another wagon," but before they reached the horse's head Levin whipped up the animal and escaped.

The officers believe that the highwaymen came here as circus followers. A number of men who came into the city with the show were in court yesterday and they were ordered to leave town within 12 hours. The police telephoned to various places along the Saco road for information regarding Mr. Snyder, but no clue was obtained.

THE POLICE BOARD

Did Not Arrive at Decision in the Shea Case

Eugene A. Shea, who conducts a liquor saloon at 550 and 561 Broadway, being licensed to sell under the provisions of the first class—liquors to be drunk on the premises—was given a hearing before the board of police at the regular meeting held last night on complaint of Supt. Redmond Welch, who alleged that Mr. Shea or his servants violated the conditions of the license by selling a half pint of whiskey to Charles E. Wallace, a member of the police department, on the night of Saturday, May 27th. Mr. Shea, who was represented by Daniel J. Donahue, entered a plea of not guilty to the complaint.

Mr. Shea and one of his clerks, Michael Miskell, were arraigned in police court last Thursday on complaints charging them with the illegal sale of liquor and at the conclusion of the hearing, Mr. Miskell was found guilty and a fine of $100 was imposed. Decision in the case of Mr. Shea was reserved until Saturday morning at which time Mr. Shea was found not guilty.

At the opening of last night's hearing, Commissioner Charles H. Hanson inquired if the case of Mr. Shea had been tried in police court, and Supt. Welch, who conducted the cases for the government, answered in the affirmative. Mr. Hanson then asked what disposition had been made of the case, and the superintendent explained that the bartender, Miskell, had been found guilty, while Mr. Shea was exonerated inasmuch as the latter was not present when the sale was made.

"Have you any new evidence in the case?" asked Mr. Hanson.

Supt. Welch said that the testimony offered at the hearing would be substantially the same as that offered before Judge Hadley in police court.

"Then I cannot see any particular reason of my listening to this evidence again," said Mr. Hanson.

"We have not heard it at all, Mr. Hanson," said Chairman Mullaney.

"I have no objection to hearing it," said Mr. Hanson, "but I think it is a waste of time."

Chairman Mullaney said that he would like to hear the testimony, and when Commissioner Hanson's opinion in the matter was asked he said that it was satisfactory to him to hear the case.

The hearing then proceeded and after the different witnesses had been examined the board took the matter under advisement.

Patrolman Wallace

The first witness called was Patrolman Charles C. Wallace and he testified practically the same as he did in the case in police court. He is in company with Inspector Frank Fox, of the liquor squad, as a result of instructions received from the superintendent visited a number of saloons on the night of May 27th to ascertain if any of the holders of first class licenses were violating the conditions of their licenses by selling bottled goods. Witness said he entered Mr. Shea's saloon at 9:20 o'clock and asked for half a pint of whiskey. He addressed the question to Miskell, who said it was against the law to sell it that if he would go to the rear end of the room he could get it. Wallace entered a toilet room and Miskell, according to the witness, gave him a half-pint of whiskey for which he gave Miskell 25 cents. Wallace then went out and told Inspector Fox what had occurred and the latter entered the place and accused Miskell of selling liquor, which allegation the latter denied.

On cross-examination by Lawyer Donahue witness said that he had visited a number of places during the night but had ordered nothing at the bar until he reached Shea's saloon, at which place he ordered a glass of port but did not drink it. Witness said that he did not see Mr. Shea on the premises. Neither did he see where Miskell got the bottle from. He said that after he entered the toilet room Miskell came in and taking the bottle out of a hip pocket handed it to him. Patrolman Wallace said that he did not have any marked money with him; that the quarter he gave Miskell had been given to him by Inspector Fox and the five cents that he paid for the port he paid out of his own money.

Inspector Fox

Inspector Frank Fox was the next witness called and after answering the usual preliminary questions said that Patrolman Wallace had been in the saloon from three to five minutes when he came out and showed the half-pint bottle containing whiskey. The witness said he had searched Wallace before the latter entered the saloon and knew that he did not have any bottle of liquor on his person. Then Inspector Fox said he entered the saloon with Wallace and going to the end of the saloon entered the toilet room and found Miskell and an elderly man there. The man had a half-pint bottle in his hip pocket and witness accused Miskell of selling liquor to the man, which Miskell denied. He then accused Miskell of selling liquor to Wallace, which the bartender also denied. Inspector Fox testified that while Wallace was inside the saloon he was standing outside the window and observed Miskell's actions until the latter entered the room where Wallace was. Chairman Mullaney asked the officer if Miskell sang the quarter up in the register and witness answered in the negative.

Sergt. Duncan

The first witness called by the defense was Sergt. Alexander Duncan, head of the liquor squad, who testified to visiting the saloon on May 27th. The place was closed and there were several of the clerks inside. He was admitted and found half-pint bottles of whiskey in front of the bar and one of the men volunteered the information that he was dumping the contents of the bottles into a barrel.

Eugene A. Shea

Eugene A. Shea, the respondent, said that he had instructed his clerks before the license was hung on the wall that they were not to sell any bottled goods to any person and that they were to sell nothing to be carried from the premises, also that the clerks themselves were not to take anything from the premises for their own use. He said that as a result of his orders all half-pint and pint bottles of whiskey were emptied into a barrel and the empty bottles thrown away. He said that when he instructed his clerks that he gave his instructions in good faith. Witness was in the barber shop when the alleged violation took place.

"Are you aware that Mr. Miskell was fined $100 in police court?" asked Mr. Mullaney.

"Yes," was Mr. Shea's answer.

"Is he still in your employ?"

"Yes, sir."

"Did you intend to keep him there?"

"That is questionable."

Chas. Burns

Frank Burns, chief of Shea's saloon, said he did not see any sale on the night in question, but said that when Officer Fox entered the saloon it was 9:10 instead of 9:20 o'clock. He said that he did not know that there had been any illegal selling in the place and would undoubtedly have known something about it if there had been.

"What would you do if you knew that half-pint were being sold?" was asked by Supt. Welch.

"I wouldn't tell it if I did," was Burns' answer.

Thomas J. Cavanaugh, a clerk in Mr. Shea's employ, said he had received instructions relative to the sale of bottled goods. He said he saw Miskell serve two glasses of beer to Patrolman Wallace, but later on being questioned said that it was port, adding that he called everything other than liquor beer.

Miskell's Testimony

Michael Miskell, the man who it is alleged sold the bottle of liquor to Patrolman Wallace and who was fined $100 in police court, said that he had received instructions relative to the sale of bottled goods from Mr. Shea and that he had followed the orders. He said he sold Wallace two glasses of port on the night in question, but added that he sold Wallace or any other person a half-pint of whiskey. He said that he had been accused of selling liquor by Inspector Fox and Patrolman Wallace, but he denied that he did so.

On cross-examination the coat of a coat similar to that which he wore on the night of the 27th was shown to him and witness said that he had no change in color and no bottles in his hip pocket as was alleged.

This included the testimony. Lawyer Donahue then made a rather lengthy argument, explaining that if Miskell had sold any liquor during the absence of Mr. Shea and that the latter had in good faith given his clerks instructions not to sell liquor, that Mr. Shea should be exonerated of the charge. Supt. Welch then argued the case after which the board took the matter under advisement.

MAN WAS KILLED

In Runaway Accident in Medford

MEDFORD, June 14.—Fidel Arnold, 35 years old, who lodged at 21 Warren avenue, Somerville, was killed in a runaway accident in Riverside avenue shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Arnold was employed by Jackson Caldwell of Somerville as a teamster, and was driving a two-horse wagon back to Union square after delivering furniture.

With him on the wagon was Patrick O'Brien of Caldwell avenue, Somerville. When the wagon reached the corner of Riverside avenue and Fourth street one of the horses became frightened and reared. Arnold tried to pull the horse back on its feet, but was unsuccessful. The animal kicked and plunged wildly and unhooked the whiffletree, which pounded against its legs.

The horse began to wild run along Riverside avenue, despite all Arnold's efforts to control him. He was finally pulled from his seat, clinging to the reins, and two wheels passed over his body. The horses ran past two other wagons owned by Caldwell and turned into a field. O'Brien clung to the seat until the driver was thrown and then he jumped. He escaped injury and ran back to help Arnold, who lay in the road unconscious.

Arnold was hurried to the Malden hospital, but died before the hospital was reached. He was unmarried and lived with his brother Fred in Somerville. Mr. Caldwell, by whom he was employed for 15 years, was greatly affected by the accident.

THE POSTAL CO.

HAS DECIDED TO ENTER THE TELEPHONE FIELD

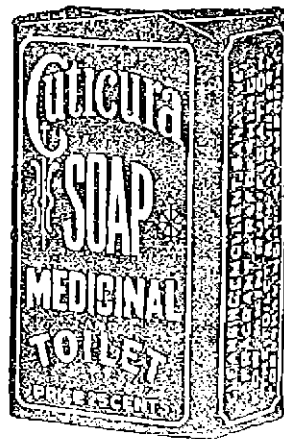

NEW YORK, June 14.—Announcement was made yesterday at the executive offices of the Postal Telegraph company that it is to enter the telephone field. As a result of experiments that have just been completed between Salt Lake City, U. and Reno, Nev., and between Reno and San Francisco, its trunk telephone lines are to be used for telephone messages between those cities.

The Postal has put into operation between Salt Lake City and San Francisco two new lines which cost $2,000,000. The wires are thicker than a lead pencil and weigh 215 pounds to the mile, instead of 210 and 500 pounds, the standard weights heretofore. This new wire is eventually to supplant the lighter size on all trunk lines of the Postal system, and as its mileage is increased the Postal's operation in the telephone field is to extend in pace.

When the telephone experiments were made the wires were being used for the transmitting of telegraphic messages between Chicago and San Francisco. Four operators were at work, furthermore, two in each direction, but at the same time men in Salt Lake City and in San Francisco were in conversation with Reno, "talking through" the telegraphic messages.

This venture of the Postal interests is frankly directed against the Western Union. The Western Union is now owned by the American Telegraph & Telephone company (the Bell system) and in the last year the service of the two companies has been made as nearly one as possible.

To Construct Proposed Transit Lines in New York

NEW YORK, June 14.—Five months of conference and controversy over the proposed transit lines in New York came to a head yesterday in a plan which Mayor McClellan declares is the largest matter before any government in the world, national, state or local, so far as it knows at the present time.

The size of the project is made most emphatic in dollars—$257,000,000—which will be expended in the entire program of new transit lines is carried out. This is more than three times the amount spent on the present extensive subway system in New York.

The plans are as complicated as they are big. The report of the subway committee embodying the plan attempts to settle the controversy by proposing a compromise by which neither the Interborough Rapid Transit company, which operates the present subway, nor the Brooklyn Rapid Transit company, which has control of most of the lines in the Long Island portion of the greater city gets all it wanted. The Interborough will have to concede the Brooklyn company's invasion of Manhattan, and the Brooklyn company will have to give New Yorkers a five-cent fare to the great pleasure grounds at Coney Island.

The Interborough concessions are: A subway on the East Side, via Lexington avenue to the Bronx; a subway from Forty-second street, south through the lower West Side, via Seventh avenue to the Battery; a subway from Times Square via Forty-second street and the hitherto idle subway tunnel giving the Interborough a line into Long Island City and Queensboro.

The Brooklyn Rapid Transit company concessions are: A subway under the East river at Fourteenth street, up Broadway to Forty-second street and thence to Central Park at Fifty-ninth street, via Seventh avenue; a circuit of elevated lines.

FUSSY ROBBERS

Used Windlass in Attempted Safe Robbery

BOSTON, June 14.—The method employed by what might be called "fussy" burglars in a vain attempt to force open the door of a safe, is not only puzzling to the Cambridge police and the proprietors of the Bluebird Machine Works of that city, but is decidedly unique and the result a bit humorous.

The safe in question is, and was, located in the office of the machine works. By appearances yesterday morning the plant had been visited during the previous night, and the visitors had attached the long chain connected with the windlass, which is situated in the shop a short distance from the door of the office, to the handle of the safe door. In order to get the straight pull on the door, the chain had been first run under the body of a heavy machine in the shop.

The great respect the burglars had for the machine was manifest in the fact that they had wrapped old overalls and other pieces of cloth about the chain where it touched the machine. They did likewise to the chain where it came in contact with the wood casing of the doorway to the office.

When everything was in readiness, evidently the men set to work working the windlass. The only damage that it did to the safe was to slightly bend the handle to the door, but the machine branch which the chain had been placed was moved several inches. Apparently discouraged at the result of their novel scheme of safe breaking, the burglars ransacked the office, taking away with them $3, $6 worth of stamps, two pairs of calipers and several other small articles of value. The catch on the office window had been snapped off, and it is believed entrance was effected through that window.

SOBRIETY LIMIT

DR. R. C. CABOT PLACES IT AT THREE DRINKS

BOSTON, June 14.—Dr. Richard C. Cabot, in his Shattuck lecture before the Massachusetts Medical Society, last night declared that in over 37 per cent of the cases from thousands of patients treated at the Massachusetts General hospital, an excess in the use of alcohol was found, and that the percentage of excess of tobacco users totaled 26 per cent. He said:

"Three whom I would class as excess users of alcohol are: 1. Those who admit they frequently get drunk; those who admit they frequently drink liquor before breakfast; those who drink three whiskeys or more than one-half pint of liquor per day; those who drink two bottles or eight glasses of beer per day; and those who drink more than two drinks of gin per day."

The use of more than one plug of tobacco per week, smoking three cigars or more per day or the use of 12 cigarettes per day were given as the qualifications for an abuser of tobacco.

PLAFED GUILTY

MAN WAS GIVEN A LIFE SENTENCE

HARTFORD, Conn., June 14.—Knowing that he pleaded himself into the Westfield state prison for life and that yesterday was the last day of even comparative freedom, James F. Cavanaugh, the young Fall River brakeman, stood before Judge Howard J. Curtis in the superior court yesterday and to the indictment said "guilty" to murder in the second degree.

On March 23 of this year Cavanaugh shot and killed Mrs. Lillian Burns of Ansonia, where her husband and child now live, and made an unsuccessful attempt to take his own life. Judge Curtis imposed the only penalty under the statutes.

A linen shower was given Miss Anna Sullivan of Jewett street at the home of Miss Kathryn Kelley of Pleasant street, Tuesday evening by a number of her friends. Miss Sullivan was the recipient of many gifts. During the evening an informal program of music was given and later refreshments were served. The party broke up at a reasonable hour wishing Miss Sullivan every success.

THE RECIPROCITY BILL

Vigorously Opposed by Senator
McCumber in Senate Today

WASHINGTON, June 14.—With the prospect of daily sessions beginning at once and continuing as long as the various senators who wish to be heard have anything to say, the senate today began the long discussion of the Canadian reciprocity bill. Senator McCumber of North Dakota took the floor immediately after the senate adjourned and immediately after the senate adjourned and immediately after the senate adjourned.

Senator McCumber, who has been vigorously opposed to the measure, not more than a dozen republicans were in their seats while only half as many democrats were present. The galleries were deserted. The intention of speaking is opposed to the pact.

"I believe this treaty," said Senator McCumber, "is enacted into law, could not only postpone for many years the consummation of a hope indulged by the farmers of the country, but hope held out to them by every speaker and writer who sought to secure and hold their votes for the protective policy of the country, but that a local result would be to destroy the policy itself. I must, therefore, either repudiate all I have advocated for years or oppose the consummation of this agreement."

"Even if we admitted," the speaker continued, "that the American market is now no better than the Canadian market, still we must answer that as an consumption overtake production in this country we will reap an advantage and that advantage is that we have earned and what we have been promised as a compensation for our sacrifices for the general principle of protection during the last year."

After reviewing testimony introduced in the hearings of the finance committee relative to Canadian and American prices, Senator McCumber said:

"Having established beyond any possible controversy that our prices are higher than the Canadian prices at present time and that this reciprocity arrangement if enacted into law will level those prices in the immediate future to the world's level, the question arises, will it be possible for us at any time in the future to again occupy the position we have for the several years, that of having a market worth from 10 to 15 cents a bushel on wheat, 25 to 30 cents a bushel on flax and 20 to 30 cents a bushel on barley more than it would be were dependent upon the foreign market?"

"I say again that the farmer who for years has looked forward to that period when consumption and production of wheat, barley and flax should equal each other in this country, will be doomed to remain for a century to come absolutely dependent upon and subservient to the world's level of prices for his products, and that with enormous possibilities of grain production in the Canadian northwest, so prices will be lower, comparatively, than he has received for a number of years."

After stating his fears that the present does not realize the enormous possibilities of the Canadian country, declaring that it is time enough to open Canadian sources when the food of the United States is really threatened, Senator McCumber closed the political effect the measure.

Coal Porters Return to Work

SOUTHAMPTON, June 14.—The strike of coal porters, which broke out here on June 2, was settled this afternoon. The men return to work on compromise terms. The American line steamer St. Paul, which should have sailed from this port last Saturday for New York, probably will get away tomorrow.

FLAG DAY

WAS NOT GENERALLY OBSERVED IN THIS CITY

This is flag day but it is not being widely or elaborately observed in Lowell. The was not generally observed in the schools and but for the appearance of flags on business houses and private dwellings there is but little recognition of the birthday of the emblem of our nation. In a few of the schools flag days were held and the children sang "The Star Spangled Banner," "America," and "Rally 'Round the Flag."

MORE TROUBLE

Officers of Grammar School League Quit

More trouble in the Grammar school league. President Morgan of the Butlers and Treasurer Joe Brooks of the Butlers, together with the Butler, Edson and Immaculate Conception school teams have quit the league because the Butlers were awarded the championship and the only thing that is worrying the remainder of the league is that there are still some unpaid bills. There is no intention on the part of Treasurer Brooks to "go South" with the league's funds but the soreheads have been passing around the stories to the effect that the money will be divided up instead of being used to pay legitimate bills, a rumor which, though without foundation, worries the well-intentioned members of the league.

Last year Arthur Sullivan of the Moody school was the president and he showed remarkable executive ability in handling the affairs of the organization for there wasn't a ripple of discord worth mentioning throughout and the season wound up with a bang and with everybody happy. But Mr. Sullivan has passed up to the high school and is no longer connected with grammar school affairs. This year there has been trouble time and again with the above deplorable outcome.

MORE LITIGATION

Apparently Needed in D'Almeida Case

It isn't often that the strong arm of the law is appealed to after the supreme court has decided a case and yet it would appear that there is still more litigation due in the case of D'Almeida, administrator, vs. Boston & Maine and Boot Cotton Mills, in which a double verdict was secured by the plaintiff last fall. Mr. D'Almeida, Portuguese consul, as administrator, brought the two suits through E. W. and S. E. Qua, in the interest of the mother of a young Portuguese who was killed by a Boston & Maine car on the Boot mill premises. Verdicts were awarded against both defendants, in the sum of $5500 against the railroad company, and $3500 against the Boot corporation. It was explained in court at the time of the trial, that although two judgments could not be collected for the same injury, it was the duty of the jury to render verdicts in the two cases according to the evidence and their understanding of the degree of liability in each case, and it was fully understood at that time, that the amount collected could not exceed the sum of the highest verdict rendered.

Judge Fox, who presided at the session, was asked to set aside the verdict against the Boot mills, but declined to do so, and recently, both verdicts have been sustained by the full bench. The counsel for the plaintiff then took the case to the supreme court, when the question arose as to how the amount should be apportioned, the counsel for the Boston & Maine agreeing with the counsel for plaintiff, that the Boot mills should be held liable for its proportionate share of the liability, while Messrs. Dunbar and Rogers, counsel for the Boot corporation contend that it should be collected from the Boston & Maine alone. It is likely that a friendly proceeding along legal lines will be had to determine the rights of the parties in the case.

Messrs. Trull and Wier appeared for the Boston & Maine.

LOAD OF RUBBISH

DUMPED IN MERRIMACK SQUARE THIS AFTERNOON

"This is enough to make anyone very angry," remarked George Paquette, as he was reloading a load of rubbish which was dumped right on the crossing at Merrimack square early this afternoon.

The young man seated on top of his dump cart was driving a load of rubbish to the Alken street dump, and in some unaccountable manner the dump became loose and the contents of the wagon were dumped in the square.

The young man got his shovel and reloaded the cart, but it was 45 minutes before he was through with his overwork.

BEATEN AND ROBBED TWO

Noted Characters Arrested But the Victim Unknown

Joseph H. Conlon, otherwise known as Joseph H. Connelly and better known to the police as "Red" Connelly, owing to the color of his hair, and Daniel J. Donahue were arrested before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on complaints charging them with drunkenness and assault and battery on an unknown person. The police are of the opinion that a robbery was committed, but owing to the failure of the man who was assaulted to prefer a complaint it is practically impossible for the police to prefer the more serious charge.

liquor met a man in the alleyway between Warren and Hurd streets and after assaulting the man, searched his pockets and took what valuables he had. Two clerks in the employ of the Putnam & Son Co. claim that they saw the two men assault the unknown man and search his pockets and rushing into the street the clerks noticed that the man who was assaulted was a colored man. The alleged offenders, placed them under arrest. When they were sent to the police station they were charged with drunkenness and assault and battery on an unknown person. The police are of the opinion that a robbery was committed, but owing to the failure of the man who was assaulted to prefer a complaint it is practically impossible for the police to prefer the more serious charge.

NEW POISON MYSTERY

Promises to Rival the Case of Mrs. Schenck

DELAWARE, Ohio, June 14.—Mrs. Jessie Way-Henkle, the five-month bride of J. D. Henkle, of this city, was bound over to the grand jury under bond of $2000 yesterday in what promises to be a poison mystery that will rival the case of Mrs. Schenck, of Wheeling. Mrs. Henkle is charged with giving arsenic in grape wine to her twenty-one-year-old step-daughter, Merle Henkle. The girl may die, and jealousy of her husband's love for his daughter is given as the cause.

Mrs. Henkle denies the charge, saying that Miss Henkle has been a nervous wreck ever since she attended a dance at Athens, Ohio, in May. She says if the young woman is suffering from poison she must have got it there. The wine in which the poison is said to have been mixed was given to the girl while she lay in at home. The stepmother was the sick-room attendant and she brought the drink to the bedside.

Mrs. Henkle declares that the drink was wholesome and pure. "There was some of it left," she says. "I took it downstairs and gave it to my son."

"We never got along together," said the sick girl yesterday. "From the moment I was taken ill I was afraid. She seemed jealous of father's attention to me. Sometimes late at night I would awake with a start and see Mrs. Henkle standing over me, all white, in

ENDED HIS LIFE PRES. FARRELL

Man Was Accused of May Testify at Steel Theft Trust Inquiry

NEW YORK, June 14.—A man who gave the name of Edward W. Keating first, and later said he was Edward Kennedy, hanged himself in the Clarkson avenue police station, Brooklyn, yesterday afternoon. He evidently hoped to conceal his identity and shield his family from disgrace.

The man was arrested for the theft of an electric magnet which was stolen from the Mutual Auto Accessory company, No. 1937 Broadway, Manhattan, on June 1. A detective found a chauffeur with the magnet. He had bought it, he said. He was then traced to Herbert Cromwell, of the Brooklyn Taxi Cab company. Mr. Cromwell said he purchased it Monday from a man who was to come yesterday and get his money. The magnet, valued at $150, was sold for $12.

At a police court yesterday the man who stole the article to Cromwell called for his money and was arrested. Henry L. Phelps, of the accessory company, was present. He said he did not know the man. When arrested the man said he had bought the magnet from a chauffeur at Times Square for $5.

On the way to the police station he broke away and ran, but was caught after a chase.

"I'm in jail, but I'm innocent," said he, "and I'd rather die than tell you I am." At the station he said he lived at No. 422 Vanderbilt avenue, Brooklyn. Placed in a cell, he asked the doorman to get him some clean clothes. Half an hour later the doorman returned and found the man unconscious, hanging from the cell door by a belt. A thorough office when cut down, he died an hour later.

At the Vanderbilt avenue house it was said he was not known. In a sketchy list he wore were the initials "E. W. K." The man was about thirty-three years old, smooth shaven, slightly built, and partly bald.

SUDDEN DEATHS

Mrs. Joseph Marcotte and Mr. Jos. Boisvert Passed Away

Two sudden deaths occurred yesterday in this city, when Mrs. Joseph Marcotte died after an illness of 47 minutes, and Mr. Joseph Boisvert passed away after being ill a few hours.

Mrs. Joseph Marcotte, nee Alvina Carpenter, was taken suddenly ill at 11 o'clock last night at her home, 22 Decatur street, and at 12:45 o'clock she passed away. The deceased was 58 years, 7 months and 2 days old. Yesterday she was in the best of health. She went to church early in the morning and received communion, and last night she attended the Holy Hour devotion at St. Jean Baptiste church. She retired about 10 o'clock and a hour later she awoke, her husband and complained of being ill. Dr. C. J. O'Brien and a priest were summoned. The former gave his patient medical attention, while the latter administered the last rites of the church.

Mrs. Marcotte, however, passed away at 11:45 o'clock. She is survived by her husband and six children, Joseph, Geo. and Eugene, Mrs. Thomas Moore and Misses Della and Zola Marcotte, all of this city.

The death certificate was signed by Mr. Joseph Boisvert, aged 57 years, who was making his home with his daughter, Mrs. Hermine Doucet, 135 Gersheim avenue, was taken with an attack of apoplexy yesterday morning and at 10 o'clock last night he passed away. The old gentleman had been enjoying the best of health up to yesterday morning at which time he complained of not feeling well. Dr. R. Mignault was immediately summoned and upon his arrival he discovered that Mr. Boisvert was suffering with apoplexy. Despite the efforts of the doctor, his patient passed away a few hours later.

The deceased is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Hermine Doucet, Miss Blanche Boisvert, both of this city, and Mrs. Anna England of St. Jean, Quebec.

UMPIRE WALSH

Umpire Walsh, who received notice yesterday that he was dropped from the New England league staff of umpires, went to Boston today and interviewed President Murnane and Secretary Morse of the league. He was armed with letters from the sporting writers and others of this city, which explained just what took place at last Saturday's Lowell-Worcester game, and also commending Mr. Walsh's conduct and judgment exhibited at the games in this city over which he has presided. As a result of his talk with the league officials, he was reinstated as an umpire and told to officiate at the Lowell-Fall River game in this city tomorrow.

A pretty wedding was solemnized this morning, when Mr. Kent Drew and Miss Blanche Boisvert were united in marriage. The ceremony was performed at a nuptial mass celebrated at 7 o'clock at St. Louis church by the pastor, Rev. J. N. Jacques. The young couple were attended by Mr. Theodore Montague of Newmarket, Conn., who acted as best man, and Miss Agnes Boisvert, a sister of the bride.

Officers Elected With Exception of President and Interesting Report Submitted by Secretary Alice L. Bachelder

The annual meeting of the Young Women's Christian association was held in Kitchin hall last evening, and officers, with the exception of the president, were chosen as follows:

First vice president, Mrs. S. H. Thompson, in place of Mrs. Francis Carl, resigned.

Second vice president, Miss Ruth Bailey, in place of Mrs. J. G. Buttrick, resigned.

Secretary, Mrs. J. E. Gibson.

Treasurer, Mrs. Burton H. Wiggin.

The following directors, whose terms expire this year, were re-elected: Mrs. Francis Carl, Mrs. J. G. Buttrick, Mrs. S. H. Thompson, Mrs. H. C. Fuller, Mrs. E. A. Plummer, Mrs. D. L. Page, Mrs. G. L. Hamilton, Mrs. A. F. French, Mrs. P. J. Fleming.

Members of board of directors to fill vacancies: Mrs. Charles H. Cutler, Mrs. W. E. Hatch and Miss Grace Ward.

The report of the treasurer, Mrs. Burton H. Wiggin, showed all bills paid at the close of the year.

Under the rules the election of president is made by the directors ten days after the annual meeting.

The report of the religious work can but briefly show forth the actual results, which may be known only in hearts and lives that have been touched and changed. Statistics, however, may serve to show some of the results of activity. The three daily prayer meetings, for the secretaries, the home girls and the help, have been faithfully conducted. The Sunday afternoon vesper services have had an average attendance of 55, and the informal 20-minute Wednesday noon meetings, 25. During the week of prayer in November, daily meetings were held at noon, led by ministers of the city and averaging 32 in attendance. There has been no series of special evangelistic meetings this year, though the Boston university gospel team came for two Sundays. Six Bible classes have been carried on, with a total enrollment of 123, including the juniors and the mission study class. The secretaries have frequently conducted meetings for churches, young people's or missionary societies, and above all, there has been the effort to make the spirit of Christ felt in every department, in even the least of the activities.

miscellaneous speakers for nine Sunday meetings, among them being Miss Bigelow of Africa, Miss Fairbanks of India, and Mr. and Mrs. Dube, natives of Zululand.

Home
During this year our home has accommodated 32 different girls as regular roomers, and 270 transients, besides 26 employees. The same spirit of harmony and good fellowship has prevailed this year, and many a girl has proved the truth of the words which hang over the doorway—
"And in this place will I give peace."
Thanksgiving and Christmas were observed for the home girls with appropriate festivities, and a Valentine party given in February. It may be of interest to some to know the nature of the occupations represented by our permanent roomers. There have been at one time 11 full operatives, eight clerks, eight seamstresses, five commercial agents, four students, three milliners, three bookkeepers, two seamstresses, two nurses, two dressmakers, two stenographers, and one physician, thus showing how widespread is its circle of helpfulness.

Lunch
This department reports another year of success, due to the faithful and efficient management of its director, Mrs. Munsey. The dining room has been crowded most of the time, and the patrons abundantly satisfied. During 11 months—the dining room being closed through August—$7,910 meals were served.

Our membership at the close of this year stands 1951, as against 1908 last year, and is divided as follows: Plant life, 59 sustaining, 584 active, 277 associate and 123 Junior. This growth though not large, may be regarded as normal, the only special effort being a brief one made in November, by the committee and a few extra workers, divided into 12 groups, representing the 12 months.

Social
The social work of the year has been largely carried on by the individual departments, and has been in the nature of home parties, educational rallies, picnics, etc. Of general social affairs there have been a Halloween party, a club social, a "celebration" at the close of the membership contest, "Open House" Jan. 2, and an April party in the form of a "Personality Contest" and "Puzzle Party" at the Y. W. C. A. building. Saturday night good times have also been enjoyed, and there have been music and games, either in the recreation room or the gymnasium, the enjoyment of which has been much enhanced by our graphophone, given us through Mrs. George E. Martin.

Educational
Classes have been provided this year in the following subjects: dressmaking, millinery, cooking, art needlework, Christmas gift making, French, household hygiene, and attendant nursing. A total of 23 classes, with an enrollment of 238, a class in the laundry work was also started in the fall, but did not reach proper proportions. The evening rally was attended by 250 young women, who enjoyed much interest in the "sample classes" being taught for their inspection. This department provided also an entertainment course given as a membership privilege.

Gymnasium
No one could question the popularity of the "gym" who has once seen a demonstration of the class work. Night after night has seen the gallery lined with spectators, while every available space is crowded for the exhibits and basketball games. During the year 301 different girls have been enrolled, including the "baby gym" class, of children of kindergarten age. Besides the two terms of regular work, there have been Saturday afternoon walks into the country, a "gym picnic" at camp, roller skating once a month in the cold weather, and several basketball games with neighboring teams, in which our Lowell team won many laurels. The year's work closed as usual with a banquet, attended by 80 of the members.

The Comfort club, as its name implies, has rendered much useful service so quickly has the reality how much has been accomplished. Letters have been written each month to the association missionaries, flowers have been sent, and 205 calls made on the sick and shut-ins; monthly visits made or post-cards sent to the poor farm, the Old Ladies' home, and the patients in both hospitals, clothing made for poor children, and one of the club members sent to Silver Bay. At Thanksgiving time, generous supplies were delivered to 17 poor families whose need and worth had been carefully investigated beforehand. A new departure this year has been the "Big Sister" movement, started by this club, whereby each member chooses one poor child to whom to act as big sister, visiting her, placing her in Sunday school, and interesting herself in all the child's needs, both material and spiritual. This, of course, is modeled after the "Big Brother" movement, and each Saturday afternoon the little sisters have met for a Bible story, a romp in the gymnasium and elementary instruction in sewing or cooking, with most excellent results.

The True Blue club has continued its monthly meetings, and has raised the money to clothe a little poor child.

The Junior club, the Buds of Promise, has met as usual on Saturday afternoons for instruction in sewing, cooking and housekeeping, or for gymnasium games.

A 25-cent club, the River-look club, composed of those girls who are interested in the summer camp. Their activities throughout the year have included sleighrides, picnics, and other social affairs. Besides very practical efforts to improve camp, one result being the purchase of a new tent and two new hammocks. This club numbers 75 members, and its total club membership up to 182.

at the last number of the membership course, a magical entertainment.

Finances
Although we have had no financial report this year, our treasurer's report again shows a balance at the time of closing the books, and we have much cause for gratitude to God who never has failed us in time of need, that our splendid record of closing every year free from debt, has been maintained.

Needs
While the Lowell association compares favorably with many others in respect to membership, finances and equipment, some of its "lacks" are so obvious that we feel the work must be hampered thereby. One great need in Lowell is a swimming-pool; girls are getting long distances to learn to swim, and the association could easily supply that need if a pool could be put into the vacant Page street lot in the rear of the building, thus connecting with the showers and dressing rooms of the gymnasium.

The dining room and kitchen are very inadequate; the domestic science department should have an outside room, with proper ventilation, for its classes, we need many more good books of fiction in our library; there should also be a game room, where there might be something going on all the time, and girls could make as much noise as they pleased. It is a little but not fact that often the most exciting thing about a Young Women's Christian Association is the reading room, and pleasure-loving girls might hesitate to invite their friends to an evening of reading.

The needs could perhaps be summed up in a word—a Palace street addition to our building, containing the desirable features named above. (For $50,000 such an addition could be built, and our work very materially increased.)

THIS IS FLAG DAY

The State is Holding the First Official Observance Today

BOSTON, June 14.—For the first time since the design of the stars and stripes was adopted as the national emblem of the United States, 131 years ago today, Massachusetts will observe the anniversary by the official proclamation of the governor.

Flag day, June 14, which is observed more or less throughout the union now, is the anniversary of the adoption of the stars and stripes by Congress in 1777. No attention was paid to it throughout the history of the nation till within 25 years or so, when the access of patriotic observances that came with the multiplication and growth of patriotic societies throughout the country led to the gradual introduction into the public schools of certain observances with regard to the flag, not only on the anniversary, but in many cases on other times during the year, particularly the day before great national holidays, or on days of national historical significance which are not holidays.

In 1897 members of the flag committee of the first patriotic and colonial societies met in New York and took steps that led within a year thereafter to the formation of the American flag association, which now has chapters in most of the states of the union. The association is made up of representatives of practically all of the patriotic societies, including those relating to the civil war and the Spanish war.

The actual organization of the flag association was effected in New York city hall Feb. 15, 1898, its object being the fostering of public sentiment in favor of honoring the nation's flag and preserving it from desecration.

Ever since its birth, the society, through its branches in different states, has been striving to obtain legislation to prevent desecration of the flag by the thoughtless or the unpatriotic, and at present 31 states and the island colony of Porto Rico have adopted such legislation. Needless to say, all the New England states have passed such laws.

Four upward of 14 years prior to the formation of the American flag association, the committees of patriotic societies, particularly the G. A. R., had been steadily arousing the interest of the authorities in charge of the public schools throughout the country to the observance by pupils of some way of the anniversary of the adoption of the flag by Congress, and as soon as the flag association was started it began to broaden and extend the observance by getting at least a quasi observance of flag day from the governments in the various states.

There has been no halting in the efforts of the officers along that line. Each year has seen some new step government take official notice of flag day, till now a large part of them on the people by gubernatorial proclamation, to set every available flag to the breeze on that day.

This year Massachusetts has joined the procession as a result of a law passed by the legislature now sitting in session. If not in other towns a citizen of the commonwealth, by exercising in the public schools for more than 20 years.

It is probable that with the passing of the years the day will grow to be observed more generally and with more capital observance than at present. Today, the first official flag day, Massachusetts will be observed with impressive exercises by the Boston led of 100s at its headquarters in Seneca street, the flag and floral decorations, be notably elaborate.

It is an interesting and significant coincidence that the National League celebrate their anniversary with a parade today and that the anniversary of the birth of Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe, the immortal author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," is to be celebrated this evening in Faneuil hall, making it appropriate observances for the nation day of the country's flag.

Corner Stone Exercises at St. Margaret's Church
Discovered on Italian Steamer
That Reached New York Today

On Account of Serious Illness of Rev. Fr. Harkins Who is at the Carney Hospital in Boston
—Rev. Fr. Riordan, New Curate,
Assumes Charge

A meeting of the men of St. Margaret's parish has been called for this evening to complete plans for the laying of the corner stone of the church at Sunday afternoon but present indications point to a postponement of the exercises on account of the serious illness of Rev. Fr. Harkins, who is confined at the Carney hospital, South Boston. The X-rays were applied yesterday, but the results were unsatisfactory, and under no circumstances will Fr. Harkins be able to officiate at today's services. For that reason only of the parishioners believe in the postponement of the event until such time as the pastor can be present, as came here unknown and started the work of organizing the parish. In a wonderfully short space of time, he accomplished great results and had a nucleus of which promises to be one of the leading parishes in Lowell. Only of his parishioners believe that should have the pleasure of officiating personally at the laying of the corner stone and thus in all probability tonight's meeting will decide upon a postponement.

NEW YORK, June 14.—A ship with a case of cholera came to port today. The Italian liner steamer Europa from Genoa and Naples dropped anchor off the quarantine and reported that a steerage passenger had died of cholera on board. The patient is on his way to recovery. The Europa, with its 363 steerage passengers and the crew, will be held at quarantine for the crew will remain on board under observation. The patient will be removed to Hoffman Island.

WOMAN MURDERED

Her Husband Has Been Placed Under Arrest

NEW YORK, June 14.—William Simmonds, a night engineer on the New York Central Railroad, was arrested on his return to White Plains last night after his last run between New York and Albany and locked up pending an investigation of the alleged murder of his wife.

The officials of Westchester county, aided by the police of White Plains, have thrown out a dragnet for the murderer of Mrs. William Simmonds, of No. 28 Hunt place, White Plains. The crime was one of the most brutal ever perpetrated in this section of the county.

The husband, an extra-list engineer of the Harlem division of the New York Central Railroad, secretary of the board of directors of the White Plains fire department and member of half a dozen prominent fraternal organizations, told a detailed story of his movements during his absence from the house in the hours that the crime was committed that set up a complete alibi for him.

Neighbors told of several attempts by unknown men to force an entrance to the Simmonds home late at night, when the husband was away upon his duties. Others related the fact that had been placed upon the housewife of the neatly terraced street in which the Simmonds home stands by the peculiar actions of several tramps that had recently infested the neighborhood, and declared that suspicion could only point toward these men.

During the day the husband reported to Under Sheriff W. J. Doyle and to County Detective Walter Scott the discovery of his wife's purse, empty, although he knew it had contained at least $15 on Friday.

Coroner Squires, who performed a preliminary examination of the body and arranged for an inquest within a few days, declared positively that the woman was the victim of a cruel and brutal murder. He expressed the belief that the murderer was not actuated by the motive of robbery, but had assaulted the woman in anger or passion, and also that the slayer was very familiar with the premises.

Evidence obtained by the authorities showed that the rear door to the house was unlocked when the body was discovered and that the key was missing. They believe the murderer entered the house through this door and escaped the same way.

"I am convinced that Mrs. Simmonds was murdered and that the motive was not robbery," said Coroner Squires, of Ossining, last night. "I have purposely postponed the inquest in order that the facts may be brought out if possible. The husband told a straight story of his movements and established a satisfactory alibi."

The facts developed by the investigation are these:

Early yesterday a woman peddler called at the Simmonds house. Violet May Simmonds, aged 6 years, opened the door and said:

"My mamma does not want anything, she is sick." This remark was heard by Mrs. Walter Knapp, who resides next door. She said to the child: "Ask your mamma, dear, if I can do anything for her." The baby girl went upstairs to the bedroom occupied by her mother at the head of the stairway, and adjoining that in which the two babies slept. Soon she returned and said to Mrs. Knapp:

"Mamma won't talk to me and her nose is bleeding." Mrs. Knapp, sure that something was wrong, stepped across and tried to enter through the front door. This was locked. Then she went around to the rear, and finding the door unlocked, went in and up the stairs. She described what she found substantially as follows:

"Although it was 11 o'clock in the morning, the room was very dark. I found Mrs. Simmonds lying undressed across the bed, with her head toward the wall and her feet projecting over the edge of the bed. She was lying upon her face, with her left arm doubled beneath her head and her right arm extended lengthwise, the hands clasping her prayer beads.

"I shook her gently and called to her. There was no response, and then I suddenly realized that the arm was cold and rigid. I ran out and called my brother, who summoned the doctor and coroner. They said she was dead."

T NUPTIAL MASS

Popular No. Chelmsford
Couple United Today

A pretty June wedding took place this morning at a nuptial high mass in John's church, North Chelmsford, when Josephine F. McCabe, the popular organist of the church, was united the holy bonds of matrimony to William H. Quigley, a well known resident of the town. The bride party consisted of the church to the strains of hennin's wedding march, played by the organ by Gertrude M. Quigley, niece of the groom. The mass was celebrated and the ceremony performed by Rev. Fr. Schofield, pastor of the church. At the offertory Miss Quigley rendered a beautiful "Ave Maria." At the close of the mass Fr. Schofield invoked his blessing on the newly wedded couple and spoke brief words of congratulation and advice to them. As the bride party was leaving church, Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Miss Quigley. A. J. W. McKennedy of St. Peter's church, Lowell, alternated at the organ. The bride was richly gowned in white satin on train with real duchesse lace trimmings and wore a white picture hat and carried lavender sweet peas. The ushers at the church were Messrs. John McGarvey and Paul O'Donnell, nephews of the bride. After the ceremony, a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's mother on Princeton street to the immediate families. The happy couple departed on an early afternoon train amid the best wishes of a host of friends for a brief wedding trip, and will be at home to their friends at their new home in Princeton street after July 1st. No cards.

FUNERAL NOTICE
WELCH—The funeral of the late Bridget Welch will take place tomorrow morning from the funeral parlors of C. H. Melloy & Sons in Market street, at 8:30 o'clock. Funeral high mass of requiem will be celebrated at 9 o'clock. Undertakers C. H. Melloy & Sons in charge.

THORP LETTER

Figured in Bull Will Case Today

ALFRED, Me., June 14.—The letter written by Joseph G. Thorp to his sister, Mrs. Ole Bull on March 1, 1905, in which was mentioned an episode concerning a Japanese which had occurred in Mrs. Bull's studio house at Cambridge in private chambers today at the hearing on the Bull will case.

This is the letter about which Mr. Thorp with some show of feeling last night said:

"This matter involves persons other than the deceased and I decline to answer any questions with respect to it."

He was willing to tell the court privately what it was about and was given the opportunity this morning. Mr. Whipple announced that he wished to show something of Mrs. Bull's mental attitude and condition and the peculiarities of her mind. He then declared it was understood that Mr. Thorp criticized her action in allowing the Japanese to come to the house.

One of the most important letters of the case, according to the attorneys, was read during the forenoon. It was from Mrs. Vaughan to Mr. Thorp, who was addressed as "Dear Uncle Joe" and was written at West Lebanon on April 21, 1911. It called Mr. Thorp severely to account for the wide publicity given the contents of the will, charged him with using the name of the famous violinist to exploit himself, to secure a respectable social position and discussed at length the clause of the will providing for the cremation of Mrs. Bull's body and the scattering of the ashes over the grave of Ole Bull in Norway. The letter in part was as follows:

"Those who loved and would have protected her were shut away from her and you claim that you were careful to know nothing whatever of the terms of the will or to influence her in any way. This leaves the undesirable burden of responsibility on Mr. Parker alone, whose position in the matter is as difficult to understand as the documents themselves."

"The entire will is contradictory, full of evidently intentional obscurities calculated to mislead anyone reading it as regards my mother's estate and then, to crown all, are inserted the fatal clauses which are clouding her memory with ridicule and shame."

"On the day of mother's death you did not tell me of the shocking details

COURT DEFIED

Woman Answers Appeal of Child

PITTSBURGH, June 14.—After listening all day to the childish appeals for her to come, Mrs. Andrew W. Mellon defied her husband and the court by rushing to Sewickley and joining her little ones at the Richard R. Quay home, to which they were taken by judicial order.

Alma Mellon, five years old, is the little one whose urgings compelled Mrs. Mellon to seek her children. If only for a time. Throughout Monday night the child was hysterical and cried for the mother from whom she had been separated by constables amid stormy scenes on the porches and lawns surrounding the Mellon mansion.

Since being ejected from her millionaire husband's home, the wife from whom he seeks a divorce has been the guest of a Mrs. Crawford, whose home adjoins that of the Mellons. Throughout the night the Crawford phone rang and each time it was the child's nurse or the little one herself at the other end begging for the mother.

"Mamma, why can't you come with us?" the little one cried, ignorant of the nature of the unpleasantness that has separated her parents.

The mother spent the night in weeping, and this morning when the weak little voice at the other end continued its appeal, she waited no longer. She remains with them.

Mrs. Mellon charges that her husband last fall tried to kidnap the children. Only her discovery of ten automobiles drawn up before her home to carry them and their effects away frustrated the plan.

EX-COACH WRAY

PAYS HIS FORMER WIFE AND THEN REWEDS

NEW HAVEN, June 14.—"Jim" Wray, who coached Harvard's rowing crews for years, not only has settled all claims of his former wife, but has married again. It was learned today that his first wife recently won a verdict against him for cruelty, and sued Miss Lillian Kennedy, a Hartford dressmaker, for alienating his affections.

Wray, it is understood, paid $5000 alimony and $30 a week for the support of his former wife and her child. Then, immediately after the decision was rendered, he married Miss Kennedy.

To Construct Proposed Transit Lines in New York

NEW YORK, June 14.—Five months of conference and controversy over new subways in Greater New York, came to a head yesterday in a plan which Mayor Gaynor declares is "the largest matter before any government in the world, national, state or local, so far as I know, at the present time."

The size of the project is made most emphatic in dollars—$257,000,000—which will be expended if the entire program of new transit lines is carried out. This is more than three times the amount spent on the present extensive subway system in New York.

The plans are as complicated as they are big. The report of the subway committee embodying the plan attempts to settle the controversy by proposing a compromise by which neither the Interborough Rapid Transit company, which operates the present subway, nor the Brooklyn Rapid Transit company, which has control of most of the lines in the Long Island portion of the greater city gets all it wanted. The Interborough will have to concede the Brooklyn company's invasion of Manhattan, and the Brooklyn company will have to give New Yorkers a 5-cent fare to the great pleasure grounds at Coney Island.

The Interborough concessions are: A subway on the East Side, via Lexington avenue to the Bronx; a subway from Forty-second street, south through the lower West Side, via Seventh avenue to the Battery; a subway from Times Square via Forty-second street, and the hitherto idle Steinway tunnel, giving the Interborough a line into Long Island City and Queensboro. The Brooklyn Rapid Transit company concessions are: A subway under the East river at Fourteenth street, up Broadway to Forty-second street, and thence to Central Park at Fifty-ninth street, via Seventh avenue; a circuit of ele-

FUSSY ROBBERS

Used Windlass in Attempted Safe Robbery

BOSTON, June 14.—The method employed by what might be called "careful" burglars in a vain attempt to force open the door of a safe, is not only puzzling to the Cambridge police and the proprietors of the Blanchard Machine Works of that city, but is decidedly unique and the result a bit humorous.

The safe in question is, and was, located in the office of the machine works. Its appearance yesterday morning the plant had been visited during the previous night, and the visitors had attached the long chain connected with the windlass, which is situated in the shop a short distance from the door of the office, to the handle of the safe door. In order to get a straight pull on the door, the chain had been first run under the body of a heavy machine in the shop.

The great respect the burglars had for the machine was manifest in the fact that they had wrapped old overalls and other pieces of cloth about the chain where it touched the machine. They did likewise to the chain where it came in contact with the wood casing of the doorway to the office.

When everything was in readiness, evidently the men set to work working the windlass. The only damage that it did to the safe was to slightly bend the handle to the door, but the machine beneath which the chain had been placed was moved several inches. Apparently discouraged at the result of their novel scheme of safe breaking, the burglars ransacked the office, taking away with them $3, $6 worth of stamps, two pairs of calipers and several other small articles of value. The catch on the office window had been snatched off, and it is believed entrance was effected through that window.

SOBRIETY LIMIT

DR. R. C. CABOT PLACES IT AT THREE DRINKS

BOSTON, June 14.—Dr. Richard C. Cabot, in his Shattuck lecture before the Massachusetts Medical Society, last night declared that in over 32 per cent of the cases from thousands of patients treated at the Massachusetts General Hospital, an excess in the use of alcohol was found, and that the percentage of excess of tobacco users totaled 22 per cent. He said:

"Those whom I would class as excess users of alcohol are: 1. Those who admit they frequently get drunk; those who admit they frequently drink liquor before breakfast; those who drink three whiskeys or more than one-half pint of liquor per day; those who drink two bottles or eight glasses of beer per day; and those who drink more than two drinks of gin per day."

The use of more than one plug of tobacco per week, smoking three cigars or more per day or the use of 12 cigarettes per day were given as the qualifications for an abuser of tobacco.

Quaint and artistic is the gown pictured. It might have been borrowed from an old trunk of forgotten linens, but it is really a creation of a French couturier in accordance with the craze for old fashioned dress accessories. The gown is made of satin trimmed with rich ecru venise lace with a trimming of gold fringe, and the hair band is of satin embroidered in gold to match the heads on the gown.

SIMPLE AFTERNOON DRESS

Of silk voile, embroidered with self-colored soutache.

tion to help instead of hindering them. The men who scan the want columns day after day are those who can't do any one thing well.

Look at the list of people who advertise. In every instance they want experienced hands, not beginners, unless they have been tried in some practical school.

That is why the best teachers, the best educators, nowadays are striving not only to put book learning into the hands of the boys and girls, but to find out what each is fitted for and as soon as possible to help them fit themselves along their special lines.

SMOKED HADDOCK AND CHUTNEY SAUCE

Use a smoked haddock, half a pint of milk, one ounce of butter, one ounce of flour, salt, pepper and a dessert-spoonful of chopped chutney.

Hold the haddock before the fire for a few minutes to remove the skin. Put the milk into a frying pan, place the haddock in it, cut into four or six pieces and let it boil. When done take up the fish and then thicken the milk with the butter and flour worked together, let it boil up, then add the chutney, pepper and salt and pour over the fish. If necessary use a little more milk.

SMALL POUNDCAKE

Use three eggs, four ounces of butter, sugar and flour, an ounce of chopped almonds, half a teaspoonful of baking powder.

Cream the butter and sugar, add the eggs singly and beat well, then the almonds, and lastly the flour and baking powder. Pour into a tin lined with buttered paper and bake for an hour.

SIMPLE LIFE

OF THE WIFE OF GEORGE WASHINGTON

The wife of the first president never lived in the White House at Washington, although that mansion was named in her honor after her former home in Virginia. During the first administration, when the capital was New York city, Mrs. Washington, in the famous Elmhurst House at No. 3 Franklin square, where she was a gracious hostess, modeled her levees, as far as might be in a new government, after the fashion of European courts.

How simple some of these festivities were is shown in the story that at one of her Friday evening receptions, as Mrs. Washington remarked, "My husband usually retires at ten o'clock, and I follow soon after."

Mrs. Washington was not a tall woman, but she had a beautiful figure, agreeable features, with dark hazel eyes and brown hair, which turned to a soft, pretty gray in later years. While not handsome, she was winning and a very attractive woman with great tact, and George Washington, during their long married life, found in her a constant companion upon whom he depended constantly.

A guest who breakfasted with the president and his family in 1794 wrote: "The president seemed very thoughtful and was slow in delivering himself. . . . the result of much reflection. . . . Mrs. Washington herself made tea and coffee for us. On the table were two small plates of sliced tangerine and dry toast, bread and butter, but no boiled fish, as is the general custom here. She struck me as being something other than the president, though I understand they were both born the same year. She was extremely simple in her dress, and wore a very plain cap, with her gray hair turned up under it."

Mrs. Washington was Martha Dandridge Custis, the fascinating young widow of a wealthy Virginia planter and the mother of two children when she married the man who was to become the leading figure in American history and who was then simply a Virginia country gentleman. No children were born of this second marriage.

LILLOR'S BISCUITS

Use one pound of flour, six ounces of sugar, three ounces of butter, enough milk to make a soft paste and a teaspoonful of vanilla essence.

Rub the butter into the flour, add the sugar, three eggs and enough milk flavored with vanilla essence to make all into a soft paste. Take up small portions, mold them with the hands into lengths of three inches and bend, pinch and pinch them up in the middle. Bake in a moderate oven till a golden color. When cold store in a tin.

WASH CLOTH RAY

Made of a wash cloth is this smart military model. The cloth, being white, the trim and bow are of red velvet.

SUTANA TARTLETS

Well pick and cut in half four ounces of scalded sutana. Place in a small crowder with a breakfastful of water and let them stew ten minutes. Add the juice of a lemon, two tablespoons of sugar, one ounce of butter and a teaspoonful of corn flour. Let all boil together and then add a teaspoonful of the mixture to the rest of the mixture. Add the rest of the mixture and cover with another crust. Bake carefully. Short crust is best for this.

RICE BISCUITS

Use four ounces of butter, four ounces of sugar, one egg, creamed and half a lemon, four ounces of pastry flour and four ounces of ground rice. Beat the butter and sugar well, add the egg and lemon juice, then the ground rice and half a lemon and beat well. Mix together the pastry flour and ground rice and add them. Roll out the paste very thin, cut with a fancy cutter, pick with a fork and bake in a moderate oven.

BANBURY CAKES

Use two pounds of currants, half an ounce each of ground almonds and powdered cinnamon, four ounces each of candied orange and lemon peel, eight ounces of butter, one pound of sugar and twelve ounces of flour. Mix all well together. Roll out a piece of puff paste, cut it into oval shapes, put a small quantity of the mixture into each and double them up in the shape of a crescent. Place these on a board and flatten with a rolling pin. Bake in a hot oven.

VENUS OF MOROCCO

To be an accepted Venus in Morocco a woman must have a greasy skin, projecting teeth, long finger nails and almost elephantine flaccid. A Moroccan woman who wishes to be styled a Venus must be so equipped as to resemble that two people entering their bathhouse and her waist can barely touch. If she is a moderate size, all a woman must be the accepted Venus for a camel.

THE HEIR TO THE DUTCH THRONE, PRINCESS JULIANA

LOUISE EMMA MARIE WILHELMINA

Princess Juliana was born at The Hague on April 30, 1909. Naturally her advent was welcomed enthusiastically, and in the course of the proclamation announcing it it was said, "May the happy event strengthen the bonds uniting the Netherlands and Orange." The princess' first name, Juliana, was given her in memory of Countess Juliana of Nassau, wife of Prince Frederick Henry and mother of the two branches of the house of Orange-Nassau. The name Louise honors the memory of Louise de Coligny, wife of William the Silent. The other names are those of the child's grandmothers and mother.

THE CHILDREN

SHOULD BE SIMPLY DRESSED IN THE SUMMER

Dress the child simply, first of all. It will have a better time, and so will you.

Of course rompers are the proper thing, but some mothers make the mistake of having the child wear a complete set of underwear beneath them, which makes them bulky, and besides not adding to the little one's comfort. It also increases the laundry bill for the child wear a knitted union suit for sole garment, either cotton or with a slight mixture of wool, according to the climate. This should be low necked and short sleeved. Over these put the rompers, and baby is dressed and plenty enough dressed too. With socks and "moccasins" his attire is complete.

Rompers for little girls come built very much like a boy's for morning wear, and while very full, like a skirt for later occasions. Sensible mothers dress their children like this all summer long and put the little ones in their white dresses for very special occasions only.

Really it is very senseless to dress a small child for afternoons like a grown-up and forbid it to play in order to keep clean.

Health is what children need and plenty of room to grow. Let the child have as much milk as it can drink and give it an egg beaten in milk occasionally between meals.

After the noon meal the child should have a nap for as long a time as it will sleep.

After supper, which should consist principally of vegetables and fruit, the little one should be allowed to run around for half an hour out of doors. Let the child go bareheaded except when the sun is very hot. It is good for its hair. When it does wear a hat be sure it is a sensible one, which fits well down over the forehead and protects the eyes. Don't coddle the child too much. Let it out in the rain occasionally and get its feet wet. That's the way to make it strong and healthy.

FUTURE TRAINING

WILL BE ACCORDING TO INDIVIDUAL NEEDS

That the education of the present is more practical than that of the past is evident, but that it is far from meeting the demands of present day life parents are realizing at last. They are waking up and demanding in return for their money the sort of education which fits a boy and a girl to face life instead of making them dissatisfied with practical realities.

This is the age of specialities. If you are a dabbler in all trades you can follow none. No one wants you.

A knowledge of figures is going to help you not at all when it comes to facing a customer, and all the geometry in the world will not take the place of mental arithmetic. The kind that enables you to make change quickly and add simple sums without searching wildly for pencil and paper. Little boys are taught ancient history instead of the social questions of the day, problems they must meet with when they leave school and which, thanks to our present system of education, they know less about than the little newsboys and ragamuffins in the street.

Girls are educated in total ignorance of cooking, housekeeping and the obligations of married life. They learn how to be good mothers after they have lost a child or two or hopelessly injured them.

The divorce courts are full of women who might have been saved lifelong unhappiness by being given the right sort of education.

The park benches are filled with tramps and failures who needn't have been so if they had received an educa-

She Says She Hopes That Justice Loring Drops Dead

BOSTON, June 11.—Rendered frantic by a decree of the supreme court which takes her 6-year-old boy from her custody, hysterical and had to be carried to a lady, and hysterically crying that she hoped the judge would drop dead, Mrs. Loring, 51-year-old woman, sobbed her way from the court room yesterday. Once outside the court, Mrs. Loring was unable to withstand the strain and gave way to her grief by hitting her head against the marble walls of the corridor until she fell to the floor. jumped to comfort her, but it was of no avail, for the frantic mother became hysterical and had to be carried to a lady, and hysterically crying that she hoped the judge would drop dead, Mrs. Loring, 51-year-old woman, sobbed her way from the court room yesterday. Once outside the court, Mrs. Loring was unable to withstand the strain and gave way to her grief by hitting her head against the marble walls of the corridor until she fell to the floor. Grandfather Gets Boy Justice Loring had just ordered that the boy, Walter Dexter Milligan, the blue-eyed, blond-haired darling of his mother's heart, should be turned over to the paternal grandfather, Thomas Milligan, of Scarsdale, because of the negligence of the mother to bring up her son.

The father died in March. The court house has been the scene of many pathetic incidents, but never one filled with greater heart burning or passion than that of yesterday. The mother, defeated in two courts for the custody of her youngster, had placed her last hope in the supreme court. Tired from her husband, Dexter Milligan, who before his death last March was the champion gun pointer in the United States navy, Mrs. Milligan had been hoping almost against hope, that her son would not be taken away from her. As Judge Loring began announcing his decree and the mother discovered his trend, her head was bowed lower and lower and convulsive sobs shook her.

When Justice Loring had finished, Mrs. Milligan was just able to drag herself out into the corridor. The sister of the heart-broken woman, Mrs. Alice Hatch, of Scarsdale, and her counsel, William F. Risk, of Lynn, did all that they could to comfort her. The little boy, not fully knowing what was taking place, but realizing his mother was in despair, attempted to console her. When his mother fell to the pavement he threw himself on her prostrate body and began to sob his little heart out.

THE COMMON COUNCIL

Takes Action on the Contagious Hospital Site

Voted to Return Land Back to the Charities Department — Members of Park Commission Appeared Before Lower Board — George C. Evans Confirmed as Registrar of Voters

The common council held a long and tedious meeting last night. A raft of routine business was disposed of and the council voted to concur with the board of aldermen in rescinding the action of the government in transferring a certain piece of land at the city farm to the contagious hospital committee. The land was intended for a site for a contagious hospital. In order to complete the re-transfer it will be necessary to have the sanction of the mayor.

Park Commissioners Pickman, Drury and Hall, and Charles L. Whittet, superintendent of parks, were present and answered a long string of questions having to do with the North and South commons, Fort Hill park and other parks and playgrounds. The commission's excuse for not doing more work on playgrounds, parks and commons is because it has not the money to do it with. One councilman allowed that the commission was spending too much money at Fort Hill park.

The board of aldermen met in special session and voted to confirm George C. Evans as a member of the board of registrars. The board adjourned until tonight.

There were twenty-four members present when President Herbert E. Elliott called to order and he stated that if the body had no objection he would like to be relieved as he was suffering from a very sore throat. Mr. Elliott called John Jacob Rogers to the chair and he took Mr. Rogers' seat on the floor.

Several minor petitions were referred to the proper committees in concurrence.

The annual report of the water department was ordered on file in concurrence.

The mayor's appointment of G. W. McLaughlin as surveyor of lumber was confirmed in concurrence.

An invitation to be present at the card party at Washington park, July 3, was accepted unanimously.

A joint communication from Charles A. Prosser, deputy commissioner of the state board of education, relative to state-aided vocational education, was read and referred to the joint committee on education in concurrence.

A joint communication for Adj. Gen. G. W. Pearson relative to the use of roads and highways in Lowell, from July 23 to 30 inclusive, for war maneuvers, was read and referred to the committee on military affairs in concurrence.

A joint resolution granting permission to Frank J. Ladd to erect a post at 23 Andover street was read and adopted in concurrence.

A protest against the erection of post-awing frames from the inspector of lands and buildings was read. Mr. Dow considered the type of frames in question to be cheap. The project was referred to the committee on streets.

A communication from the committee on accounts calling attention to the fact that the patching of Westford street had cost the city $1575 was referred to the committee on streets.

Acting President Rogers said that the park commissioners were in their room up stairs and awaited the pleasure of the council. He thought it would be but courteous to suspend business and notify the commissioners to appear. It was so voted.

While the messenger went after the commissioners an order transferring the land at the junction of D and Harris avenue and portions of Houghton, Parker and Plain streets from the street department to the park department, was read. The order was introduced by President Elliott and he spoke briefly in favor of the transfer. The order was adopted.

The park commissioners were announced and the question box was opened.

Mr. Coughlin asked for the reading of his joint resolution recommending an increase in the wages of park department employees from $1.75 to $2 a day. Mr. Coughlin spoke to the order and hoped that the commission would see its way clear to establish a minimum daily wage of $2. Mr. Coughlin's resolution was adopted on the part of the council.

Councilman Gargan asked the superintendent of parks why it was that an additional ball ground had not been laid out on the South common as recommended by the city council. Mr. Whittet said there wasn't any room for an additional ball ground on the South common. Mr. Gargan said that it was a case of fight every Saturday afternoon to see who would get the present ball ground there and he said that if why the additional ball grounds had not been laid out.

Supt. Whittet said there was no proper place for the ball ground.

Mr. Gargan said there is a very good place on the southwest corner of the common.

Mr. Pickman wanted to know if the park commission would assure the city council that if money enough were appropriated it would be used to increase the pay of laborers in the department. Mr. Pickman said he would not enter into any agreement of that kind and suggested that it was not the time or place for such a proposition.

Mr. Tracy asked Mr. Pickman if he felt that the men of the department earned $2 a day. Mr. Pickman wanted to know why the park commission should settle that matter. There is a great difference in the service of men.

Mr. Achin wanted to know why the park board puts forth all of its efforts for the embellishment of Fort Hill park. He favored the planting of flowers on the commons. He favored better policing of the commons. Referring to playgrounds he said there is a plot of land on Aiken street of which the city is a tenant at will. He asked that the park commission take some steps towards acquiring the land permanently.

Mr. Pickman said that some years ago men who at that time were highly prized for their actions gave Fort Hill park to the city, and it was accepted. It was primarily a display park. That park was never intended to play baseball on; it was intended to be beautified. Citizens who come from abroad are those who most highly enjoy this display park.

Of the amount of money appropriated for the park department $1000 went for an athletic field on the South common. That money was taken from the meagerly appropriation for the department. That money was saved because the pay roll was not padded.

"We don't profess to be immaculate," he said. "We take what we get. I beg before the committee on appropriations and begged for a large amount of money. Let me ask you why you didn't give us more money. You! You don't expect me to put my hand in my pocket and pay for the policing of commons, do you? If you do, you are mistaken."

Mr. Achin contended that we should have parks which would be appreciated by local residents, not by outsiders. He favored the turning back of the land in Aiken avenue to the proprietors of the Locks and Canals and the prompt assessing of the same, unless something permanent could be done there.

Mr. Coughlin spoke about fixing up the bandstand on the South common. Supt. Whittet said the stand is very weak. He said a new bandstand was required.

Speaking of work done on the North common, Mr. Pickman said considerable money had been spent there last year. He said that the walks on the South common are in rather bad shape.

Questioned by Mr. Tracy about ball grounds on the west side of Fort Hill park, Mr. Hall said that petitions had come in for the laying out of the field. An estimate of the cost of work was $15,000. Later it was estimated that the wall would cost $5000.

The wall was built for $1000. The next year $2500 was asked to grade the grounds. One thousand was appropriated. He said that the park now is in fairly good condition, although not finished. But $200 has been spent on it.

Mr. Tracy asked about the availability of land for play ground purposes at Walsen and Whinnie streets. Mr. Pickman said Paul Butler had said the land might be used if taxes on it are abated. It would be a tenancy at will and could not be leased.

Mr. Coughlin characterized the comfort station as a disgrace. Mr. Pickman intimated that the commission

A joint resolution to lay a sidewalk in Third street was adopted in concurrence.

A joint resolution to pay compensation in the sum of $1697 for claims against the city of Lowell was referred to the committee on appropriations in concurrence.

Resolutions on the death of Hon. George Russell, a former mayor of the city, were read and it was voted to spread them on the records and to send a copy to the family of deceased.

An ordinance amending the ordinance creating a commission to erect Huntington hall was read. This is Alderman Rountree's order, and provides for a remodeled public hall, police court and ambulance station. It was referred to the committee on ordinances and legislation in concurrence.

An order to repeal the transfer of certain land from the charity department to the contagious hospital commission was read. Mr. Rogers desiring to speak on the question, Mr. Chapman took his place as presiding officer.

Mr. Rogers said he hoped the order of last year would not be rescinded. In the beginning he quoted from the statutes of the Revised Laws, which state that each city must provide one or more isolated hospitals for the care of contagious diseases. The city of Lowell has been violating this law for a number of years. The only place where contagious diseases can be received at the present time is in the hospital at the corner of Salem and Pawtucket streets. That is not sufficient.

The speaker said unreasonably people would object to such a hospital being located anywhere, the public mind having been put in a state to offer such objection. He considered the site selected as in the least congested district of the city.

Speaking of land values in the vicinity of the Chelmsford street hospital, Mr. Rogers said Mr. Genest's land is assessed for 3 1/2 to 3 3/4 cents a foot. Other land is assessed for less than one cent a foot. Opposite that site the land is assessed for about six cents a foot. Values could not shrink materially, even though he did not believe they would.

The history of the creation of the contagious hospital commission was gone into and the subsequent dissension in that board was touched upon. If this thing is persisted in, he said, it is going to mean that we will never have any contagious hospital. And epidemics are liable to come at any time.

Referring to land values near the Lowell hospital, at the corner of Pawtucket and Salem streets, the speaker said the land is assessed from 40 to 65 cents a foot. Among the purchasers of this hospital are three physicians, Drs. E. H. Smith, Rodrique Mignault, and Roy. They were not afraid of buying expensive homes very near a contagious hospital.

The nearest point from Chelmsford street to the proposed hospital is 150 feet.

In other cities contagious hospitals have been placed in down town areas, in the very hearts of congested districts, and physicians have argued that there is no possible danger from infection. Touching a lowering of real estate values, Mr. Rogers said that people would not feel that land and real estate would be cheapened if they looked at the matter coldly. He believed the land values would increase rather than decrease.

Mr. Genest, who owns property in Chelmsford street near the proposed hospital, said Mr. Rogers would object to such a hospital in front of his home. He said six acres of land could be purchased near the Lowell general hospital for $500.

Mr. Coughlin thought the order transferring the land to the contagious hospital commission was railroaded through.

Mr. Achin said the aldermen in the section feel very strongly against the proposed site. He mentioned a site across the railroad track on the Chelmsford street land.

Mr. Royal refuted the statement that the order was railroaded through last year's government. He said he represented the men who voted on Dr. McCarty's recommendation last year to transfer the land to the contagious hospital commission. Messrs. Chadwick, Corbett and Bowers also spoke against.

The question of rescinding the transfer of land was put, and the original transfer was repealed, 15 to 7, in concurrence.

A vote was taken for principal assessor. There was no choice, the result being: Gray 7, Tuttle 2, Farnham 4, Jeremiah J. O'Sullivan 5, Cheney 1 and Craig 6.

Board of Aldermen

The board of aldermen met in special session. The special meeting was called for the purpose of drawing jurors, but the board attended to other business and voted to confirm George C. Evans as a member of the board of registrars.

The board was called to order at 8:45 o'clock, with all members present.

Chairman Gallagher named Alderman Toupin to draw jurors for the superior court in session at Cambridge beginning June 19, and the following were chosen:

Patrick O'Hearn, 282 Riverside street, contractor.

James W. Ellis, 33 White street, carpenter.

Amos Kendall, 12 Washington street, stone cutter.

CLOSED BUSY YEAR

Annual Meeting of Y. W. C. A.
Held Last EveningOfficers Elected With Exception
of President and Interesting
Report Submitted by Secretary
Alice L. Bachelder

The annual meeting of the Young Women's Christian association was held in Kitson hall last evening, and officers, with the exception of the president, were chosen as follows:

First vice president, Mrs. S. H. Thompson, in place of Mrs. Francis Carll, resigned.

Second vice president, Mrs. Ruth Bailey, in place of Mrs. J. G. Buttrick, resigned.

Secretary, Mrs. J. E. Gibson.

Treasurer, Mrs. Burton H. Wiggins.

The following directors, whose terms expire this year, were re-elected: Mrs. Francis Carll, Mrs. J. G. Buttrick, Mrs. S. H. Thompson, Mrs. H. C. Fuller, Mrs. F. A. Flather, Mrs. D. L. Fazio, Mrs. E. J. Fleming, Mrs. A. P. French, Mrs. F. J. Fleming.

Members of board of directors to fill vacancies, Mrs. Charles H. Cullen, Mrs. W. E. Hatch and Miss Grace Ward.

The report of the treasurer, Mrs. Burton H. Wiggins, showed all bills paid at the close of the year.

Under the rules the election of president is made by the directors ten days after the annual meeting.

After the business session the River-look club, the True Blue club and the advanced gymnasium class did some interesting stunts, and Miss Faith Doty gave several readings.

Miss Alice L. Bachelder, secretary of the association, presented a complete report of the year's work, which read in part as follows:

The record of the religious work can but poorly show forth the actual results, which may be known only in hearts and lives that have been touched and changed. Statistics, however, may serve to show some of the forms of activity. The three daily prayer meetings, for the secretaries, the home girls and the help, have been faithfully conducted. The Sunday afternoon vespers services have had an average attendance of 50, and the informal 20 minute Wednesday noon meetings, 23. During the week of prayer in November, daily meetings were held at noon, led by ministers of the city and averaging 52 in attendance. There has been no series of special evangelistic meetings this year, though the Boston university gospel team came for two Sundays. Six Bible classes have been carried on, with a total enrollment of 123, including the juniors and the mission study class. The secretaries have frequently conducted meetings for churches, young people's or missionary societies, and above all, there has been the effort to make the spirit of Christ felt in every department, in even the least of the activities.

Home

During this year our home has accommodated 52 different girls as regular roomers, and 275 transients, besides 10 employees. The same spirit of harmony and good fellowship has prevailed this year, and many a girl has proved the truth of the words which hang over the doorway: "And in this place, will I give peace." Thanksgiving and Christmas were observed for the home girls with appropriate festivities, and a Valentine party given in February. It may be of interest to some to know the nature of the occupations represented by our permanent roomers. There have been at one time 11 mill operatives, eight clerks, eight teachers, five commercial agents, four students, three milliners, three bookkeepers, two seamstresses, two nurses, two dressmakers, two stenographers, and one physician, thus showing how widespread is its circle of helpfulness.

Lunch

This department reports another year of success, due to the faithful and efficient management of its director, Mrs. Munsey. The dining room has been crowded most of the time, and the patrons abundantly satisfied. During 11 months the dining room being closed through August—$7,946 meals were served.

Our membership at the close of this year stands 1051, as against 1008 last year, and is divided as follows: Church life, 53 sustaining, 534 active, 277 seceding and 123 junior. This growth is not large, but may be regarded as normal, the only special effort being a brief one made in November, by the committee and a few extra workers, divided into 12 groups, representing the 12 months.

Social

The social work of the year has been largely carried on by the individual departments, and has been in the nature of home parties, educational rallies, picnics, etc. Of general social affairs there have been a Halloween party, a club social, a "celebration" at the close of the membership contest, "Open House" Jan. 3, and an April Fool party in the form of a "Parade" Conducted Tour to Washington. "Saturday night good times" have also been revived, and there have been music and games, either in the recreation room or the gymnasium, the enjoyment of which has been much enhanced by our graphophone, given us through Mrs. George E. Martin.

Educational

Classes have been provided this year in the following subjects: dressmaking, millinery, cooking, art needlework, Christmas gift making, French, house-hold hygiene, and attendant nursing. A total of 22 classes, with an enrollment of 238, and a class in "Personal Hygiene" was also started in the fall, but did not prove popular. The opening rally was attended by 250 young women, who evinced much interest in the "sample classes" being taught for their inspection. This department provided also an entertainment course given as a membership privilege.

Gymnasium

No one could question the popularity of the "gym" who has once seen a demonstration of the class work. Night after night has seen the gallery lined with spectators, while every available space is crowded for the exhibits and basketball games. During the year 301 different girls have been enrolled, including the "baby gym" class, of children of kindergarten age. Besides the two terms of regular work, there have been Saturday afternoon walks into the country, a "gym picnic" at camp, roller skating once a month in the cold weather, and several basketball games with neighboring teams, in which our Lowell team won many laurels. The year's work closed as usual with a banquet, attended by 80 of the members.

The Comfort club, as its name implies, has been much useful in service, so quietly has the work been done that few perhaps realize how much has been accomplished. Letters have been written each month to the association missionaries, flowers have been sent, and 208 calls made, on the sick and shut-ins; monthly visits made to poor families, to the poor farm, the Old Ladies' home, and the patients in both hospitals; clothes made for poor children, and one of the club members sent to Silver Bay. At Thanksgiving time, generous supplies were delivered to 17 poor families, whose need and worth had been carefully investigated beforehand. A new departure this year has been the "Big Sister" movement, started by this club, whereby each member chooses some poor child to whom to act as a big sister, visiting her, placing her in Sunday school, and interesting herself in all the child's needs, both material and spiritual. This, of course, is modeled after the "Big Brother" movement, and each Saturday afternoon the little sisters have met for a Bible story, a romp in the gymnasium and domestic instruction in sewing or cooking, with most creditable results.

The True Blue club has continued its monthly meetings, and has raised the money to clothe a little poor child. The Junior club, the Buds of Promise, has met as usual on Saturday afternoons for instruction in sewing, cooking and housekeeping, or for gymnastic games.

A new club this year is the River-look club, composed of those girls who are interested in the summer camp. Their activities throughout the year have included sleighrides, picnics, and other social affairs, besides very practical efforts to improve camp, one result being the purchase of a new boat and two new hammocks. This club members 25, bringing our total club membership up to 185.

Summer Work

"Lowell Lodge," our summer home at Northfield, was open for the month of August, under the direction of one of the secretaries, and 37 guests were accommodated. Two groups of girls were again sent on a two-weeks' vacation trip to Beverly, and again Camp Riverlook on the Concord River, opened its hospitable doors to many Lowell girls, who found there rest and recreation, the total registration being 543. This camp, with its pine trees, porch dining-room, sleeping tent, hammocks on the wide veranda, and other attractions dear to nature-loving souls, has proved a boon to weary girls, and has become a very large part of our summer work.

FOURTH OF JULY

Committee Arranging for Celebration

Although we have had no financial campaign this year, our treasurer's report again shows a balance at the time of closing the books, and we have much cause for gratitude to God who never has failed us in time of need, that our splendid record of closing every year free from debt, has been maintained.

Needs

While the Lowell association compares favorably with many others in respect to membership, finances and equipment, some of its "lacks" are so obvious that we feel the work much hampered thereby. "One great need in Lowell is a swimming pool; girls are going long distances to learn to swim, and the association could easily supply that need if a pool could be put into the vacant Pidge street lot in the rear of the building, thus connecting with the showers and dressing rooms of the gymnasium.

The dining room and kitchen are very inadequate; the domestic science department should have an outside room, with proper ventilation, for its classes. We need many more good books of fiction in our library; there should also be a game room, where there might be something going on all the time, and girls could make as much noise as they pleased. It is a true but sad fact that often the most exciting thing about a Young Women's Christian Association is the reading room, and pleasure-loving girls might hesitate to invite in their friends to an evening of reading.

The needs could perhaps be summed up in a word—a large street addition to our building, containing the desirable features named above. (For $50,000 such an addition could be built, and our work very materially increased.)

THIS IS FLAG DAY

The State is Holding the First
Official Observance Today

BOSTON, June 14.—For the first time since the design of the stars and stripes was adopted as the national emblem of the United States, 131 years ago today, Massachusetts will observe the anniversary by the official proclamation of the governor.

Flag day, June 14, which is observed more or less throughout the nation, is the anniversary of the adoption of the stars and stripes by congress in 1777. No attention was paid to it throughout the history of the nation till within 25 years or so, when the access of patriotic observances that came with the multiplication and growth of patriotic societies brought the country led to the gradual introduction into the public schools of certain ceremonies with regard to the flag, not only on the anniversary, but in many cases at other times during the year, particularly the day before great national holidays, or on days of national historical significance which are not holidays.

In 1877 members of the flag committee of several of the revolutionary and colonial societies met in New York and took steps that led within a year thereafter to the formation of the American flag association, which now has chapters in most of the states of the union. The association has made up of representatives of practically all of the patriotic societies, including those relating to the Civil war and the Spanish war.

The actual organization of the flag association was effected in New York city hall Feb. 15, 1878, its object being the fostering of public sentiment in favor of honoring the nation's flag and preserving it from desecration.

Ever since its birth, the society, through its branches in different states, has been striving to obtain legislation to prevent desecration of the flag by the thoughtless or the unpatriotic, and at present 34 states and the island colony of Porto Rico have adopted such legislation. Needless to say, all the New England states have passed such laws.

For upward of 10 years prior to the formation of the American flag association, flag committees of patriotic societies, particularly the G. A. R., had been steadily arousing the interest of the authorities in charge of the public schools throughout the country to the observance of the flag in some way on the anniversary of the adoption of the flag by congress, and as soon as the flag association was started it began to broaden and extend the observance by getting at least a quasi observance of flag day from the governments in the various states.

There has been no halting in the effort to secure legislation for the observance of flag day in the various states.

Corner Stone Exercises at St. Margaret's Church

Discovered on Italian Steamer That Reached New York Today

On Account of Serious Illness of Rev. Fr. Harkins Who is at the Carney Hospital in Boston—Rev. Fr. Riordan, New Curate, Assumes Charge

A meeting of the men of St. Margaret's parish has been called for this evening to complete plans for the laying of the corner stone of the church at Sunday afternoon, but present indications point to a postponement of exercises on account of the serious illness of Rev. Fr. Harkins, who is confined at the Carney Hospital, Boston. The X-rays were applied yesterday, but the results were unsatisfactory, and under no circumstances will Fr. Harkins be able to officiate at today's services. For that reason many of the parishioners believe in the postponement of the event until such time as the pastor can be present, as cannot here unknown and started the work of organizing the parish. In a wonderfully short space of time he accomplished great results and had a nucleus of which promises to do some of the leading parishes in Lowell. Many of his parishioners believe that should have the pleasure of officiating personally at the laying of the corner stone and thus in all probability tonight's meeting will decide upon a postponement.

WOMAN MURDERED

Her Husband Has Been Placed Under Arrest

NEW YORK, June 14.—William Simmonds, a night engineer on the New York Central Railroad, was arrested upon his return to White Plains last night after his last run between New York and Albany and locked up pending an investigation of the alleged murder of his wife.

The officials of Westchester county, aided by the police of White Plains, have been out on a drag net for the murderer of Mrs. William Simmonds, of No. 16 Hunt place, White Plains. The crime was one of the most brutal ever perpetrated in this section of the country.

The husband, an extra-list engineer of the Harlem division of the New York Central Railroad, secretary of the board of directors of the White Plains fire department and member of half a dozen prominent fraternal organizations, told a detailed story of his movements during his absence from the house in the hours that the crime was committed that set up a complete alibi for him.

Neighbors told of several attempts by unknown men to force an entrance to the Simmonds home late at night, when the husband was away upon his duties. Others related the fear that had been placed upon the housewives of the neatly terraced street in which the Simmonds home stands by the peculiar actions of several tramps that had recently infested the neighborhood, and declared that suspicion could only point toward those men.

During the day the husband reported to Under Sheriff W. J. Doyle and to County Detective Walter Scott the discovery of his wife's purse, empty, although he knew it had contained at least $15 on Friday.

Coroner Squires, who performed a preliminary examination of the body a few days, declared positively that the woman was the victim of a cruel and brutal murder. He expressed the belief that the murderer was not actuated by the motive of robbery, but had assaulted the woman in anger or passion, and also that the slayer was very familiar with the premises.

Evidence obtained by the authorities showed that the rear door to the house was unlocked when the body was discovered and that the key was missing. They believe the murderer entered the house through this door and escaped the same way.

"I am convinced that Mrs. Simmonds was murdered and that the motive was not robbery," said Coroner Squires, of Ossining, last night. "I have purposely postponed the inquest in order that the facts may be brought out if possible. The husband told a straight story of his movements and established a satisfactory alibi."

The facts developed by the investigation are these:

Early yesterday a woman peddler called at the Simmonds home. Violet May Simmonds, aged 4 years, opened the door and said:

"My mamma does not want anything, she is sick." This remark was heard by Mrs. Walter Knapp, who resides next door. She said to the child:

"Ask your mamma, dear, if I can do anything for her." The baby girl went upstairs to the bedroom occupied by her mother at the head of the stairway, and adjoining that in which the two babies slept. Soon she returned and said to Mrs. Knapp:

"Mamma won't talk to me and her nose is bleeding." Mrs. Knapp, sure that something was wrong, stepped across and tried to enter through the front door. This was locked. When she went around to the rear, and finding the door unlocked, went in and up the stairs. She described what she found substantially as follows:

"Although it was 11 o'clock in the morning, the room was very dark. I found Mrs. Simmonds lying undressed across the bed, with her head toward the wall and her feet protruding over the edge of the bed. She was lying upon her face, with her left arm doubled beneath her head and her right arm extended lengthwise, the hands clasping her prayer beads.

"I shook her gently and called to her. There was no response, and then I suddenly realized that the arm was cold and rigid. I ran out and called my brother, who summoned the doctor and coroner. They said she was dead."

Husband Tells of Movements

When the husband was asked to tell what he knew he talked readily, explaining all his movements until he left the house to answer a night summons at 3:30 o'clock Monday night.

"Before leaving home my wife fixed me up a light cup of tea and some cookies and then packed up a lunch for me. We left the kitchen together and I turned out the gas as we walked toward the front of the house. At the front door we said good-bye. About a block away I thought of my lunch that I had left in the house and returned to get it. As I came in and opened the front door with my latch key my wife came to the top of the stairs and when I saw her I expected to return from my run. I told her some time Tuesday afternoon. Then I explained I had forgotten my lunch, got the package and left again through the front door. That was the last time I saw my wife for when I got back today she was dead and they told me of it before I got home. I had taken No. 22 to West Albany for repairs."

During the night a brown water snail belonging to the Knapp family found its way to the Simmonds house and was taken care of by the family. His barkings and baying heard on several occasions and did not release the dog.

EX-COACH WRAY

PAYS HIS FORMER WIFE AND THEN REWEDS

NEW HAVEN, June 14.—"Jim" Wray, who carried Harvard's rowing crew for years, and who has settled all claims of his former wife, but has married again, it was learned today. His first wife recently won a verdict against him for cruelty, and sued Miss Lillian Kennedy, a Hartford dressmaker, for alienating his affections.

Wray, it is understood, paid $8500 alimony and $30 a week for the support of his former wife and her child. Then, immediately after the decision was rendered, he married Miss Kennedy.

THORP LETTER

Figured in Bull Will Case Today

ALFRED, Me., June 14.—The letter written by Joseph G. Thorp to his sister, Mrs. Ole Bull on March 1, 1905, in which was mentioned an episode concerning a Japanese which had occurred in Mrs. Bull's studio house at Cambridge was read before Judge Nathaniel Hobbs in private chambers today at the hearing on the Bull will case.

This is the letter about which Mr. Thorp with some show of feeling last night said:

"This matter involves persons other than the Japanese, and I decline to answer any questions with respect to it."

He was willing to tell the court privately what it was about and was given the opportunity this morning. Mr. Whipple announced that he wished to show something of Mrs. Bull's mental attitude and condition and the peculiarities of her mind. He then declared it was understood that Mr. Thorp criticized her action in allowing the Japanese to come to the house.

One of the most important letters of the case, according to the attorneys, was read during the forenoon. It was from Mrs. Vaughan to Mr. Thorp, who was addressed as "Dear Uncle Joe" and was written at West Lebanon on April 21, 1911. It called Mr. Thorp severely to account for the whole publicity given the contents of the will, charged him with using the name of the famous violinist to exploit himself and discussed at length the clause of the will providing for the cremation of Mrs. Bull's body and the scattering of the ashes over the grave of Ole Bull in Norway. The letter in part was as follows:

"Those who loved and would have protected her were shut away from her and you claim that you were careful to know nothing whatever of the terms of the will or to influence her in any way. This leaves the undesirable burden of responsibility on Mr. Parker alone, whose position in the matter is as difficult to understand as the documents themselves."

"The entire will is contradictory, full of evidently intentional obscurities calculated to mislead anyone reading it as regards my mother's estate and then, to crown all, are inserted the fatal clauses which are clouding her memory with ridicule and shame."

On the day of mother's death you did not tell me of the shocking details

COURT DEFIED

Woman Answers Appeal of Child

PITTSBURGH, June 14.—After listening all day to the childish appeals for her to come, Mrs. Andrew W. Mellon defied her husband and the court by rushing to Sewickley and joining her little ones at the Richard R. Quay home, to which they were taken by judicial order.

Aisha Mellon, five years old, is the little one whose urgings compelled Mrs. Mellon to seek her children, it only for a time. Throughout Monday night the child was hysterical and cried for the mother from whom she had been separated by constables amid stormy scenes on the porches and lawns surrounding the Mellon mansion.

Since being ejected from her millionaire husband's home, the wife from whom he seeks a divorce has been the guest of a Mrs. Crawford, whose home adjoins that of the Mellons. Throughout the night the Crawford phone rang and each time it was the child's nurse or the little of herself at the other end begging for the mother.

"Mamma, why can't you come with us?" the little one cried, ignorant of the nature of the unpleasantness that has separated her parents.

The mother spent the night in weeping, and this morning when the weak little voice at the other end continued its appeal, she wept no longer. She remains with them.

Mrs. Mellon charges that her husband last fall tried to kidnap the children. Only her discovery of ten automobiles drawn up before her home to carry them and their effects away frustrated the plan.

Star Dillon Won Pacing Race

BALTIMORE, June 14.—The opening day's program of the spring light harness racing meeting at the Gentlemen's club driving park was run off in aizzling rain yesterday afternoon. The track was slow, but it did not slacken interest in the sport, several thousand spectators being on hand when the initial event, the 2:28 pace, was held.

This event was won in straight heats by Star Dillon, a son of Baron Dillon, who took the lead at the start of each heat and held it to the end.

The 2:30 trot and the special race for ad drivers went into four heats. Star Dillon, backed up so badly in the second that he was drawn before the start of the third. Uncle Davy, the winner of the speed of the field in the second, third and fourth heats. The sum was $250.

MANAGER CHANCE

MAY BE OUT OF GAME FOR LONG TIME

CHICAGO, June 14.—The recent attack between the Cubs and Boston has resulted in the fact that Manager Frank Chance's condition is more serious than at first reported and that he will probably be out of the game for months instead of days.

Yesterday it was learned that the manager is not suffering alone from injury to his head, but that his back is again in bad shape and that he would have kept him on the bench even if he had not been hit on the head by a pitched ball.

In 1903, when the Cubs trained in St. Louis, Mo., the manager was compelled to return to Chicago because of a nerve in one of his feet was pressing against a bone. That kept him out of the game for some time. At that time he was suffering just twice as much pain and is in just as bad condition for the same ailment has returned and now is in both feet.

Chance hasn't given up hope of being back into the game, but those who are familiar with his condition believe that it will be some time before he can look after things around a base.

There are few fans who realize just how serious the condition of the manager is. For instance, he can't see a ball when he is standing at the plate. "I get up there in the batting practice," said Chance yesterday, "and the time that I can see the ball all right. The next time it is a bit more difficult for me to follow it. The third time it is even harder, and after that I can't see the ball at all."

MATT WELLS WON

Briton Gets Decision Over Pal Moore

The 100 or more Lowell men who attended the bouts at the Armory club last evening were of the opinion that Pal Moore should have been given a draw against Matt Wells, the champion lightweight of England, after their lively 12-round go before one of the largest attendances of the year. Charles White of New York refereed and gave Wells the decision. Wells certainly had several pounds advantage over Moore and did most of the leading and forcing. He was boxing in throughout and yet he had only a left hand with which he jabbed Pal repeatedly. The latter showed up well, however, and put it all over the Englishman in the final round. Had he done as well earlier in the bout the referee couldn't have given the decision to Wells. The preliminaries were the best seen at the club in many a day.

SENTENCED TO DIE

Cooke to be Electrocuted During the Week of October 8

He Was Convicted of the Murder of Herbert E. White of Ludlow—His Counsel and His Mother Wanted Him to Ask Gov. Foss to Commute the Sentence But He Refused to Do So

SPRINGFIELD, June 14.—Death in the electric chair at the Charlestown state prison some time during the week beginning Oct. 8 next was the sentence pronounced on Edward P. Cooke, the convicted slayer of Herbert E. White, a Ludlow farmer, in the summer criminal court today. Sentence was imposed by Judge Crosby. Cooke addressed the court, saying that he was innocent of any intention of shooting White.

Attorney Heady, Cooke's counsel, announced today that Cooke had refused to ask Governor Foss for a commutation of sentence to imprisonment for life. Cooke's mother and the attorney had asked him to make the request of the governor, but the convicted man preferred to be executed rather than to spend his life in prison.

White was shot by Cooke on Feb. 3, 1916, at the White farm in Ludlow, and left his wounds again for Massachusetts. He came primarily to attend the republican conference on the woolen tariff bill, and joined with the view of the republican minority that it was not advisable to reduce the duties at least before the tariff board has had an opportunity to report.

GIRL ARRESTED

Came From Hillsboro to Tyler St.

Annie T. Harkins, an attractive young woman, who gives her age as 20 years and her residence as Hillsboro, N. H., and who has been in Lowell for several weeks, was arrested by Patrolman Simon Lane in Tyler street last night. According to the testimony of the arresting officer the young woman was under the influence of liquor and staggering through the street.

When she was arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning she admitted that she had been drinking and was probably drunk when placed under arrest. She said she left her home recently, but would gladly return to that place and reform if given a chance to do so.

Owing to the age of the girl, the court decided to turn her over to Probation Officer Slattery and the latter after giving the girl some sound advice made provisions for her return to her home.

Judge Hadley's advice to the girl was: "Go back to Hillsboro and stay there. Don't come to Lowell again. The atmosphere of Hillsboro is presumably better than in Lowell."

DECIDING GAME

Between Princeton and Yale Today

NEW YORK, June 14.—Princeton and Yale, each having lost a game to the other on home grounds, came to New York today to settle the question of supremacy at baseball on a neutral diamond. The contest brought a large following of students from both camps on morning trains. Reinforced by thousands of "old grads" and ardent admirers from this city, the rival hosts turned toward the Brooklyn National league park to fight it out.

All reservations at the park were snatched up well in advance and a record crowd was assured, with standing room only when the game was called at 3:40 p. m. It is many years since Brooklyn had the excitement of entertaining a big intercollegiate game and the spirit of the day was in evidence throughout the thorough by display of the blue and the orange and black.

The Yale team had the slight advantage of an afternoon's practice on the Brooklyn diamond yesterday while the Tigers were playing the alumni game. Both captains expressed confidence before the game began. Captain Allan Corey of Yale announced before leaving his hotel that he would stand pat on the lineup which defeated Princeton last Saturday with Hartwell and Scott as pitchers. The Princeton choice for the box was "Biggy" Woodell, who is credited with the Princeton victory a week ago at New Haven.

His last duty was as a member of the expanding and retiring board, the war was in the army during the Civil war but was transferred to the navy in 1865. During the Spanish war he was on duty at the naval torpedo station at Newport. Admiral Niles' retirement will result in the promotion to the grade of rear admiral of Captain C. D. Moore, at present commandant of the naval training station at San Francisco.

MANAGER OF CINCINNATI REDS

WHO IS LIKELY TO LOSE HIS JOB

CINCINNATI, June 14.—There has been considerable gossip going on for the past few weeks regarding Clarke Griffith of the Reds and his remaining as manager of the local baseball team.

Before he came to this city three seasons ago he was manager of the New York Americans, and before that he was the pilot of the Chicago White Sox. As a pitcher he had a brilliant career and was considered to be one of the best during his day. Since he has been in the managerial end of the game he has won just one percent—that with the Chicago club in the American league. He came close to it with the New York club, and there was a lot of kicking in Gotham because he lost the pennant in the last game. In Cincinnati Griffith hasn't had a successful season during his stay here. He finished in the first division year before last and then led the second brigade, trailing the dust made by the Phillies. To sum it up, Griffith is about to lose his job unless the team gets to working better. Those in the know say he has until July 1 to make a showing and that unless he comes to the front by that time Captain Mitchell will be placed in charge until his successor is appointed.

BOSTON BOXER

KNOCKED OUT HIS MAN IN SECOND ROUND

NEW YORK, June 14.—About four minutes of actual fighting were required last night for Andy Morris of Boston to shatter the white hope among the fans of the city, the light heavyweight of New Jersey, at Brown's gym. Shortly after the second round had begun, a terrific left swing on the jaw sent the Jerseyite to the floor, where he remained for some time, and when he was carried to his corner he remained in a dazed condition for several minutes.

The Bostonian some time ago made a very creditable showing against Jim Street at the Fairmount A. C. but it was expected that Savage, who is touted as one of the many candidates for the White Hope crown, would do the work and in the opening session he was wild and missed several good swings and allowed Savage to find some good ones in return and earn the favor of the crowd.

At the beginning of the second round Morris jumped right after his man and landed several hard rights on the kidneys and ribs. The pair clinched, and after looking away Morris, before the crowd had realized what happened, shot over the head blow that ended the bout.

OVERRIDING THE GOVERNOR'S VETOES

Governor Foss has sent over a dozen vetoes to the legislature, and of these three have been overridden. These have been the civil service examination bill, the medical milk commission bill and the bill to increase the wages of laborers employed by the metropolitan boards to $2.25 per day. This fixing of the rate of wages in any department is one of the most flagrant violations of the fundamental principles of law that could be imagined. It is a well known fact that employees differ as to their value to a department and that wages, like the prices of commodities, rise and fall with changing conditions. The other city departments will now endeavor to push their pay up to the figure fixed by the legislature. It is an unwarranted interference with the business of the city of Boston, and one that is sure to result in future confusion and demoralization to the various departments.

SENATE WILL PASS RECIPROCITY BILL

It is now expected that President Taft will be able to carry the reciprocity agreement with Canada through the senate by a substantial majority. At first it seemed doubtful if the measure would be carried but the opposing forces have been whipped into line or at least pacified to such an extent that it is now believed the measure will be adopted by a majority of thirty.

According to the New York Tribune, the senators from only eleven of the forty-six states are solidly arrayed against the bill, while senators from six states are divided. The eleven states are New Hampshire, Vermont, Michigan, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Idaho, Wyoming, Utah, Kansas and Louisiana. The six whose senators are divided are Maine, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Iowa, Montana, and Texas. It would appear from this list that the opposition to the reciprocity bill is not so widespread as at first supposed.

POPULAR ELECTION OF SENATORS

The action of the United States senate in voting to submit its future destiny to the will of the people is one of the most important political events of the new century. It foreshadows the day when popular government will be supreme, when neither the money bags nor the political machines can elect or defeat candidates against the will of the people. The senate on Monday voted 64 to 24 in favor of an amendment to the constitution providing for the popular election of members of that body.

During the past sixteen years the senate on four different occasions turned down this same proposition, while the national house as often voted in favor of the change. In 1902 the house voted unanimously in favor of this amendment and will doubtless do so in the present instance in concurrence with the action of the senate. The various states had apparently given up hope of united action by congress and hence no less than twenty-nine states have passed resolutions in favor of the amendment and authorizing congress to call a convention for the purpose of proposing an amendment. Of the remaining seventeen states only two have failed to show sympathy with the movement by instructing their legislatures or by planks in their party platforms. At present at least thirty states are instructing their legislatures by direct vote as to the most eligible candidates for the senate.

The Bristol amendment tacked on to the motion passed by the senate would give congress control of senatorial elections. The states have the right to elect their own senators in their own way and congressional control would be an unwarranted interference with the rights of the states which the latter will not tolerate.

This firm determination of a majority of the states has evidently convinced the senate that it would be useless to hold out any longer against the popular will. The change is now assured just as soon as it can be carried out in the regular way by the ratification of three-fourths of the states by their respective legislatures or conventions. This action of the United States senate may have been prompted at this juncture by the Lorimer case and others that have of late cast suspicion upon the propriety of certain senators and the legality of the methods by which they secured election. Senators may have been able to corrupt legislatures, but they will not be able to corrupt the entire people of any state except the state be very small. When it has come to pass that corporations will put up $100,000 or even a greater amount to elect a man who can be relied upon to be their pliant tool, it is time some changes were made. The action by the United States senate is coincident with the decision of the Massachusetts legislature to have all state officers chosen by direct vote of the people. Thus it appears that all over this country there is a great movement for reform in the direction of making the government of city, state and nation more responsive to the will of the people. That is the leading issue throughout the country today. The government of our American cities was rotten to the core and through that rottenness the government of the states and even of the nation became tainted with corruption, while the people were powerless to apply the remedy. The political bosses and party machines were the final arbiters and hence the people were ignored or set at defiance. The people of England that live under a constitutional monarchy have been able to dictate the affairs of government to such an extent that no sovereign and no parliament would dare ignore or disobey a popular mandate. Not so in this country, however. Once the officials were elected in most cases they did as they pleased, often showing the utmost disregard for the will of the people. All this is soon to be changed and the adoption of the commission charter is one of the methods by which the people are to be put in the saddle as it were, while the political machines, cliques and factions will have to go to the rear. The voters of this country may not realize the fact but the time is at hand when their power and their responsibility as citizens will be vastly increased; and upon the intelligence and honesty exercised in the use of this power will depend whether we shall promptly reach the highest ideals of government, or whether our progress in breaking away from the corrupt or inefficient methods, will be discouragingly slow. Anyhow, it is plain that we are moving in the right direction and in this widespread crusade for better government the watchword of every progressive city should be "onward."

SEEN AND HEARD

A farmer finds a $1 bill and appropriates it by right of discovery to himself. He goes to town and pays it to a newspaper man on what he owed him; the newspaper man hands it over to a merchant to settle his account; the merchant pays his meat bill with it, and the butcher pays it back to the original owner to finish paying for a calf he had bought. After which the farmer takes it to the bank and deposits it to be counterfeited, and on the ensuing Sunday puts it into the missionary collection. Query: Are all these debts cancelled by the spurious $1?—Hawthorne World.

After the plumber had finished some repairs about his office the kind-hearted business man said to him: "You will find soap and clean towels in the washroom and you are welcome to use them when you get through." The plumber spruced up after he had finished his work, but to the astonishment of the business man, he appeared a few minutes later with his face daubed with dirt and grease. "Why in the world did you blacken your face up again after you had washed yourself?" the business man asked.

Grimacing evilly, the plumber replied: "I went back to the office with a clean face the boss would think I had been loafing on the job."—Youngstown Telegram.

CHILDREN AT PRAYER

So many earth-bound thoughts in moments past.
So many sordid trifles in each day
Have held me to their level, that at last I can not pray.
But kneeling here in answer to my need
Are my sweet intercessors! All my cares
And skeptic thoughts roll from me as I plead—
"Lord, hear their prayers."

—Burroughs Johnson in "Success Magazine."

Tom Tynan, warden of the Colorado penitentiary, does not believe in punishment for revenge. He is quoted as follows in an article in "Success Magazine":

"We've got to get away from the old 'eye even' idea. Imprisonment isn't society's revenge upon the offending individual, but society's effort to correct and reclaim. The penitentiary that releases unbettered and unimproved men is not only a millstone about the taxpayer's neck, but a menace to the society that it is supposed to protect. Instead of sending broken, revengeful men back into the world, let no wise reformed, but still deeply resolved against cunning, we must send back reformed men, eager and willing to be of use. Reclamation, not further damnation."

"The penitentiary should be the last resort. Many a man is doing time when justice would have better served had he been paroled from the bench. The trial judge now has the power to parole in misdemeanor cases. This law should be extended so as to take in felonies. What if a man has stolen to get medicine for a sick wife? I have a fellow who's doing three years for that very thing. What if there is technical merit without criminal intent? What if it is a first offense, acted by a man of good character, and not by a habitual criminal? Right there—in the court room—is where such men should be given another chance. What's the danger? The sentence hangs over them and they live under the eye of the law. If they fail to make good, or if it turns out that confidence has been falsely reposed in them, they can be rearrested and imprisoned without further proceedings."

WHEN THE LANE TURNS
There'll be light and joy forever
When the long lane turns—
The singing of the river
When the long lane turns:
The singing of the river as it ripples
To the sea.
In the light that falls in showers over
You and over me
And we'll revel in the garden where
The roses bloom
When the lane—where the long lane turns!

We'll forget our cares and crosses
When the long lane turns—
With gains for the lasses
When the long lane turns:
The birds will fill with music all the forests and the dells.
To the ringing and the singing of the golden-throated bells.
When the lane—when the long lane
turns.

—Frank L. Stanton.

Timidity, shyness, and self-consciousness belong to the same family. We usually find all where we find any one, and they are all enemies of peace of mind, happiness, and achievement. No one has ever done a great thing while his mind centered upon himself. We must lose ourselves before we can find ourselves. Self-analysis is valuable only to learn our strength; it is fatal if it makes us dwell upon our weakness.

Timid, shy people are morbidly self-conscious; they think too much about themselves. Their thoughts are turned inward; they are always analyzing, dissecting themselves, wondering how they appear and what people think of them. If these people could only forget themselves and think of others, they would be surprised to see what freedom, ease and grace they would gain; what success in life they would achieve.

Thousands of young people are held back from undertaking what they long to do, and are kept from trying to make real their life-dreams, because they are afraid to jostle with the world. They shrink from exposing their sore spots and sensitive points, which smart from the lightest touch. Their hypersensitiveness makes cowards of them.

—O. S. Marden in "Success Magazine."

IN THE THICK OF IT ALL
Oh, the jangling and wrangling and striving,
The scheming and ceaseless conniving,
The rattling and battling and chasing,
The weak who are crushed to the wall;
The tussling and jostling and racing—
And I in the thick of it all!

Oh, the sighing and crying and pleading,
The clucking and clucking and bleeding,
The darning and darning and sweating,
The weak ones who stumble and fall;
The rushing and crushing and fretting—
And I in the thick of it all!

Oh, the meadows, the shadows 'neath willows,
The grass and the mossy green pillows;
The whirling and parting and roaring
Of brooks where they tumble and fall;
But useless their ceaseless imploring
To me in the thick of it all.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Senorita Dona Margarita Neri is said to have fought in Mexico during the recent revolution. She is the daughter of General Neri, who served under Diaz originally, but who, living to the beginning of the late war, spent his last sympathies on the insurgents. His fortune was left to his daughter who was being educated in a convent. She is said to have spent it on the insurgents, and to have led a band of 500 men in the fight. She is credited with having been in three engagements, to ride daringly, and to be a good fighter, while the men worship her. There being no commissariat department connected with the Mexican army, it is provisioned by mothers, wives and daughters of the soldiers, who are promptly at work with their soup and bean kettle whenever there is a halt. These women are said to be valuable in foraging for the soldiers when necessary. A girl who is said to have become the idol of the Mexican army is the young daughter of Vasquez. She is only 18, but went to the front with her father, took the long marches by his side, and is reported to have fought by his side. Whether or not this is true, she is said to have ultimately become a prisoner of war, and to have been sent home by General Agulla.

An interesting list of cases is reported by the committee of the Hero Fund founded by Mr. Carnegie in France. The gold medal has been given to Madame Mesny, widow of the devoted physician who died while combating the terrible epidemic in Manchuria. Dr. Mesny, who had long before determined to make the sacrifice of his life in the good cause, if this were necessary—as, to use his own words, he saw no alternative but to die at his post—expired at Harbin on Jan. 12 and the news of his loss under such heroic circumstances sent a thrill throughout France.

An annuity of $60 is being given to Madame Delmas, widow of a policeman who was mortally wounded a year ago by a criminal at Marly le Roi when he was trying to arrest and annul the same amount are to be enjoyed by each of her three children until they reach the age of sixteen. A silver medal has been awarded to Lieutenant Carnot, who while the 11th regiment of chasseurs were crossing the Rhone canal in the neighborhood of Doubs, one day last August, saved the lives of two troops who had got into difficulties, and would certainly have been drowned if he had not gone to their rescue.

Another case is that of M. Guerin, who was station master at Belbeac, in the Seine, Inferieure, and who was killed in endeavoring to help a woman who was imprudently trying to get into a train as it was moving on. He fell under the wheels of a passenger car and was killed. A silver medal and the sum of $600 have been awarded to the widow of the heroic station master.

Because of a statement attributed to Dr. Lyman Abbott of New York, that the mayor has put a ban on the police nightsticks and that this was partly responsible for the "increase of crime," Mayor Gaynor a few days ago asked Police Commissioner Wadsworth to "tell the truth" as to whether or not he had ever put an embargo on the carrying of nightsticks. In reply to this Commissioner Wadsworth wrote Monday to the mayor: "Since you became mayor of this city, Jan. 1, 1910, no orders have been Maurice Levin, a fruit dealer, who lives in this city, told the officers that while he was driving along the Buxton road on his way to Saco last night he saw two men lurking in the shadows beside the road. He heard one of them say: "Here comes another wagon," but before they reached the horse's head Levin whipped up the animal and escaped.

The officers believe that the highwayman came here as circus followers. A number of men who came into the city with the show were in court yesterday and they were ordered to leave Saco within 72 hours. # THE POLICE BOARD

Did Not Arrive at Decision in the Shea Case

Eugene A. Shea, who conducts a liquor saloon at 559 and 601 Broadway, being licensed to sell under the provisions of the first class—liquors to be drunk on the premises—was given a hearing before the board of police at the regular meeting held last night on complaint of Supt. Edmund Welch, who alleged that Mr. Shea or his servants violated the conditions of the license by selling a half pint of whiskey to Charles C. Wallace, a member of the police department, on the night of Saturday, May 27th. Mr. Shea, who was represented by Daniel J. Donahue, entered a plea of not guilty to the complaint.

Mr. Shea and one of his clerks, Michael Miskell, were arraigned in police court last Thursday on complaints charging them with the illegal sale of liquor and at the conclusion of the hearing Mr. Miskell was found guilty and a fine of $100 was imposed. Decision in the case of Mr. Shea was reserved until Saturday morning at which time Mr. Shea was found not guilty.

At the opening of last night's hearing Commissioner Charles H. Hanson inquired if the case of Mr. Shea had been tried in police court, and Supt. Welch, who conducted the cases for the government, answered in the affirmative. Mr. Hanson then asked what disposition had been made of the cases, and the superintendent explained that the bartender, Miskell, had been found guilty, while Mr. Shea was exonerated inasmuch as the latter was not present when the sale was made.

"Have you any new evidence in the case," asked Mr. Hanson.

Supt. Welch said that the testimony offered at the hearing would be substantially the same as that offered before Judge Hadley in police court.

"Then I cannot see any particular reason of our listening to this evidence again," said Mr. Hanson.

"We have not heard it at all, Mr. Hanson," said Chairman Mullaney.

"I have no objection to hearing it," said Mr. Hanson, "but I think it is a waste of time."

Chairman Mullaney said that he would like to hear the testimony, and when Commissioner Fungler's opinion in the matter was asked he said that it was satisfactory to him to hear the case.

The hearing then proceeded and after the different witnesses had been examined the board took the matter under advisement.

Patrolman Wallace

The first witness called was Patrolman Charles C. Wallace and he testified practically the same as he did in the case in police court. He is in company with Inspector Frank Fox, of the liquor squad, as a result of instructions received from the superintendent visited a number of saloons on the night of May 27th to ascertain if any of the holders of first class licenses were violating the conditions of their licenses by selling bottled goods. Witness said he entered Mr. Shea's saloon at 8:20 o'clock and asked for half a pint of whiskey. He addressed the question to Miskell, who said it was against the law to sell it but that if he would go to the rear end of the room he could get it. Wallace entered a toilet room and Miskell, according to the witness, gave him a half-pint of whiskey for which he gave Miskell 25 cents. Wallace then went out and sold Inspector Fox what had occurred and the latter entered the place and accused Miskell of selling liquor, which allegation the latter denied.

On cross-examination by Lawyer Donahue witness said that he had visited a number of places during the night but had ordered nothing at the bar until he reached Shea's saloon, at which place he ordered a glass of port but did not drink it. Witness said that he did not see Mr. Shea on the premises. Neither did he see where Miskell got the bottle from. He said that after he entered the toilet room Miskell came in and taking the bottle out of a hip pocket handed it to him. Patrolman Wallace said that he did not have any marked money with him; that the quarter he gave Miskell had been given to him by Inspector Fox and the five cents that he paid for the port he paid out of his own money.

Inspector Fox

Inspector Frank Fox was the next witness called and after answering the usual preliminary questions said that Patrolman Wallace had been in the saloon from three to five minutes when he came out and showed the half-pint bottle containing whiskey. The witness said he had searched Wallace before the latter entered the saloon and knew that he did not have any bottle of liquor on his person. Then Inspector Fox said he entered the saloon with Wallace and going to the end of the saloon entered the toilet room and found Miskell and an elderly man there. The man had a half pint bottle in his hip pocket and witness accused Miskell of selling liquor to the man, which Miskell denied. He then accused Miskell of selling liquor to Wallace, which the bartender also denied. Inspector Fox testified that while Wallace was inside the saloon he was standing outside the window and observed Miskell's actions until the latter entered the room where Wallace was. Chairman Mullaney asked the officer if Miskell rang the quarter up in the register and witness answered in the negative.

Sergt. Duncan

The first witness called by the defense was Sergt. Alexander Duncan, head of the liquor squad, who testified to visiting the saloon on May first. The place was closed and there were several of the clerks inside. He was admitted and found half pint bottles of whiskey in front of the bar and one of the men volunteered the information that he was dumping the contents of the bottles into a barrel.

Patrolman Marshall

Patrolman Marshall, Whelan and Castles, who patrol the beat on which Mr. Shea's saloon is located, testified that they had never seen any violation of the law since the first class license had been granted to the respondent.

Eugene A. Shea

Eugene A. Shea, the respondent, said that he had instructed his clerks before the license was hung on the wall that they were not to sell any bottled goods to any person and that they were to sell nothing to be carried from the premises, also that the clerks themselves were not to take anything from the premises for their own use. He said that as a result of his orders all half-pint and pint bottles of whiskey were emptied into a barrel and the empty bottles thrown away. He said that when he instructed his clerks that he gave his instructions in good faith. Witness was in the barber shop when the alleged violation took place.

"Are you aware that Mr. Miskell was fined $100 in police court?" asked Mr. Mullaney.

"Yes," was Mr. Shea's answer.

"Is he still in your employ?"

"Yes, sir."

"Did you intend to keep him there?"

"That is questionable."

Chas. Burns

Frank Burns, chief at Shea's saloon, said he did not see any sale on the night in question, but said that when Officer Fox entered the saloon it was at 8:20 o'clock. He said that he did not know that there had been any illegal selling in the place and would undoubtedly have known something about it if there had been.

"What would you do if you knew that half-pint was being sold?" was asked by Supt. Welch.

"I wouldn't tell it if I did," was Burns' answer.

of bottled goods. He said he saw Miskell serve two glasses of beer to Patrolman Wallace, but later on being questioned said that it was porter, adding that he called everything other than liquor beer.

Miskell's Testimony

Michael Miskell, the man who it is alleged sold the bottle of liquor to Patrolman Wallace and who was fined $100 in police court, said that he had received instructions relative to the sale of bottled goods from Mr. Shea and that he had followed the orders. He said he sold Wallace two glasses of porter on the night in question, but denied that he sold Wallace or any other person a half pint of whiskey. He said that he had been accused of selling liquor by Inspector Fox and Patrolman Wallace, but he denied that he did so.

On cross-examination the coat or a coat similar to that which he wore on the night of the 27th was shown the board and witness said that he had no change in colored any bottles in his hip pockets as was alleged.

This concluded the testimony. Lawyer Donahue then made a rather lengthy argument, explaining that if Miskell had sold any liquor during the absence of Mr. Shea and that the latter had in good faith given his clerks instructions not to sell liquor, that Mr. Shea should be exonerated of the charge. Supt. Welch then argued the case after which the board took the matter under advisement.

MAN WAS KILLED

In Runaway Accident in Medford

MEDFORD, June 14.—Fidèle Arnold, 35 years old, who lodged at 21 Warren avenue, Somerville, was killed in a runaway accident in Riverside avenue shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Arnold was employed by Jackson Caldwell of Somerville as a teamster, and was driving a two-horse wagon back to Union square after delivering furniture.

With him on the wagon was Patrick O'Brien of Caldwell avenue, Somerville. When the wagon reached the corner of Riverside avenue and Fourth street one of the horses became frightened and reared. Arnold tried to pull the horse back on its feet, but was unsuccessful. The animal kicked and plunged wildly and unhooked the whiffletree, which pounded against its legs.

The horse began a wild run along Riverside avenue, despite all Arnold's efforts to control them. He was finally pulled from his seat, clinging to the reins, and two wheels passed over his body. The horses ran past two other wagons owned by Caldwell and turned into a side street, clung to the seat until the driver was thrown and then he jumped. He escaped injury and ran back to help Arnold, who lay in the road unconscious.

Arnold was hurried to the Malden hospital, but died before the hospital was reached. He was unmarried and lived with his brother Fred in Somerville. Mr. Caldwell, by whom he was employed for 15 years, was greatly affected by the accident.

THE POSTAL CO.

HAS DECIDED TO ENTER THE TELEPHONE FIELD

NEW YORK, June 14.—Announcement was made yesterday at the executive offices of the Postal Telegraph company that it is to enter the telephone field. As a result of experiments that have just been completed between Salt Lake City and San Francisco, the Postal Telegraph & Telephone company has decided to enter the telephone field. The Postal has put into operation between Salt Lake City and San Francisco two new lines which cost $2,000,000. The wires are thicker than a lead pencil and weigh 425 pounds to the mile, instead of 210 and 300 pounds, the standard weights heretofore. This new wire is eventually to supplant the lighter size on all trunk lines of the Postal system, and as its mileage increased the Postal's operation in the telephone field is to extend in pace.

When the telephone experiments were made the wires were being used for the transmission of telegraphic messages between Chicago and San Francisco. Four operators were at work, furthermore, two in each direction, but at the same time men in Salt Lake City and in San Francisco were in conversation with Reno, "talking through" the telegraphic messages.

This venture of the Postal interests is frankly directed against the Western Union. The Western Union is now owned by the American Telegraph & Telephone company (the Bell system) and in the last year the service of the two companies has been made as nearly one as possible.

MOISTURE CAUSES ECZEMA

Constant moisture is a common cause of eczema. Infants and baby people are often affected where the folds of the skin come in contact with moisture. Eczema is a skin disease which is very common and is often mistaken for so long as the hands are frequently in water. In treating eczema, water and soap should be sparingly used, or not at all. ### MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

The feature offering at the Merrimack Square theatre this week, an operetta containing many catchy musical numbers and bright comedy, entitled "The Summer Girls," is winning moving approval at all performances. Those engaged in its presentation are talented young people, graduates of the Boston Conservatory of Music, whose training makes them especially fitted for their respective parts. The young women members are high class artists whose efforts to entertain are characterized by a finish that comes only after long practice and training. Those who have not yet witnessed this week's performance should not allow the opportunity to pass without seeing it.

Delaney and Wohlman, comedy singers and dancers and high class entertainers, and the "Wee McGregors," are Scotch singers of a most enjoyable type. Miss Grace Usher is the week's vocalist, whose endeavors to please have won her many friends. The motion pictures are the best shown in the city. Baseball results are given nightly. Remember that the Merrimack Square is the coolest spot in town—Ady.

LAKEVIEW THEATRE

Under the direction of Jos. J. Flynn, the summer theatrical season at Lakeview park will be opened next Monday with an elaborate production of the great political play "The Man of the Hour."

Mr. Flynn has spared no expense to make the inauguration bill a memorable one, and for its presentation a permanent stock company has been secured which will compare most favorably with the very best winter stock aggregations.

"The Man of the Hour" as enjoyed so much popularity, and has been the subject of so much discussion, that most people are now familiar with its theme. It does more than furnish excellent dramatic entertainment, for it opens the eyes of the public better than a thousand statements could, to the methods by which graft has prospered in the large cities of the country. So thoroughly has it exposed this pernicious evil that genuine reform waves followed its appearance in every city it played.

The comfort of patrons is something that Mr. Flynn intends to look carefully after this summer, and to this end, the theatre has been thoroughly renovated and improved. Objectionable features which in the past have characterized the space around the entrance have been removed, including the old noisy carrousel.

Performances of "The Man of the Hour" will be given every afternoon excepting Monday and every evening during the week—Ady.

To Construct Proposed Transit Lines in New York

NEW YORK, June 14.—Five months of conference and controversy over new subways in Greater New York came to a head yesterday in a plan which Mayor Gaynor declares is "the largest matter before any government in the world, national, state or local, so far as I know, at the present time."

The size of the project is made most emphatic in dollars—$257,000,000—which will be expended if the entire program of new transit lines is carried out. This is more than three times the amount spent on the present extensive subway system in New York.

The plans are as complicated as they are big. The report of the subway committee embodying the plan attempts to settle the controversy by proposing a compromise by which neither the Interborough Rapid Transit company, which operates the present subway, nor the Brooklyn Rapid Transit company, which has control of most of the great Long Island portion of the great city, gets all it wanted. The Interborough will have to concede the Brooklyn company's invasion of Manhattan, and the Brooklyn company will have to give New Yorkers a 5-cent fare to the great pleasure grounds at Coney Island.

The Interborough concessions are: A subway on the East Side, via Lexington avenue to the Bronx; a subway from Forty-second street, south through the lower West Side, via Seventh avenue to the Battery; a subway from Times Square via Forty-second street and the hitherto idle Steinway tunnel, giving the Interborough a line into Long Island City and Queensboro. The Brooklyn Rapid Transit company concessions are:

A subway under the East river at Fourteenth street, up Broadway to Forty-second street and thence to Central Park at Fifty-ninth street, via Seventh avenue; a circuit of elevated and subway lines connecting the East river bridges.

As the Interborough will have to invade the city and the Brooklyn company will have to grant a concession to Coney Island, it is intimated that the companies may not accept the proposed plan without some concession on the part of the city.

The total outlay if all lines are carried out would be:

By the city $121,200,000

By the Interborough 75,500,000

By the Brooklyn Company 29,500,000

Total $226,200,000

The city's expenditure of $121,200,000 in the construction of subways is explained by the fact that the city's subway system is the largest in the world, and it is estimated that the city will have to operate them under municipal ownership or to turn them over to other private corporations.

Complicated conditions regarding division of earnings and making up of possible lines of operation are specified for the various lines.

PLEADED GUILTY

MAN WAS GIVEN A LIFE SENTENCE

HARTFORD, Conn., June 11.—Knowing that he pleaded himself into the Westernfield state prison for life and that yesterday was the last day of even comparative freedom, James P. Cavanaugh, the young Fall River braggart, stood before Judge Howard J. Curtis in the superior court yesterday and to the indictment said, "guilty of murder in the second degree."

On March 24 of this year Cavanaugh shot and killed Mrs. Lillian Perry of Canton, where her husband and child now live, and made an unsuccessful attempt to take his own life. Judge Curtis imposed the only penalty under the statutes.

LINEN SHOWER

A linen shower was given Miss Anna Sullivan of Jewett street at the home of Miss Kathryn Kelley of Pleasant street, Tuesday evening by a number of her friends. Miss Sullivan was the recipient of many gifts. During the evening an informal program of music was given, and later refreshments were served. The party broke up at a reasonable hour wishing Miss Sullivan every success.

FUSSY ROBBERS

Used Windlass In Attempted Safe Robbery

BOSTON, June 14.—The method employed by what might be called "careful" burglars in a vain attempt to force open the door of a safe, is not only puzzling to the Cambridge police and the proprietors of the Blanchard Machine Works of that city, but is decidedly unique and the result a bit humorous.

The safe in question is, and was, located in the office of the machine works. By appearance yesterday morning the plant had been visited during the previous night, and the visitors had attached the long chain connected with the windlass, which is situated in the shop a short distance from the door of the office, to the handle of the safe door. In order to get a straight pull on the door, the chain had been first run under the body of a heavy machine in the shop.

The great respect the burglars had for the machine was manifest in the fact that they had wrapped old overalls and other pieces of cloth about the chain where it touched the machine. They did likewise to the chain casing it came in contact with the wood casing of the doorway to the office.

When everything was in readiness, evidently the men set to work working the windlass. The only damage that it did to the safe was to slightly bend the handle to the door, but the machine beneath which the chain had been placed was moved several inches. Apparently discouraged at the result of their novel scheme of safe breaking, the burglars ransacked the office, taking away with them $5.34 worth of stamps, two pairs of calipers and several other small articles of value. The catch on the office window had been snipped off, and it is believed entrance was effected through that window.

SOBRIETY LIMIT

DR. R. C. CABOT PLACES IT AT THREE DRINKS

BOSTON, June 14.—Dr. Richard C. Cabot, in his Shattuck lecture before the Massachusetts Medical Society, last night declared that in over 32 per cent of the cases from thousands of patients treated at the Massachusetts General hospital, an excess in the use of alcohol was found, and that the percentage of excess of tobacco users totaled 26 per cent. He said:

"Those whom I would class as excess users of alcohol are: 1. Those who admit they frequently get drunk; those who admit they frequently drink liquor before breakfast; those who drink three whiskeys or more than one-half pint of liquor per day; those who drink two bottles or eight glasses of beer per day; and those who drink more than two drinks of gin per day."

The use of more than one plug of tobacco per week, smoking three cigars or more per day or the use of 12 cigarettes per day were given as the qualifications for an abuser of tobacco.

THE COMMON COUNCIL

Takes Action on the Contagious Hospital Site

Voted to Return Land Back to the Charities Department — Members of Park Commission Appeared Before Lower Board — George C. Evans Confirmed as Registrar of Voters

The common council held a long and tedious meeting last night. A raft of routine business was disposed of and the council voted to concur with the board of aldermen in rescinding the action of the government in transferring a certain piece of land at the city farm to the contagious hospital committee. The land was intended for a site for a contagious hospital. In order to complete the re-transfer it will be necessary to have the sanction of the mayor.

Park Commissioners Pickman, Drury and Hall, and Charles L. Whittet, superintendent of parks, were present and answered a long string of questions having to do with the North and South commons, Fort Hill park and other parks and playgrounds. The commissioners' excuse for not doing more work on playgrounds, parks and commons is because it has not the money to do it with. One councilman allowed that the commission was spending too much money at Fort Hill park.

The board of aldermen met in special session and voted to confirm George C. Evans as a member of the board of registrars. The board adjourned until tonight.

The Common Council

There were twenty-four members present when President Herbert E. Elliott called to order and he stated that if the body had no objection he would like to be relieved as he was suffering from a very sore throat. Mr. Elliott called John Jacob Rogers to the chair and he took Mr. Rogers' seat on the floor.

Several minor petitions were referred to the proper committees in concurrence.

The annual report of the water department was ordered on file in concurrence.

The mayor's appointment of G. W. McLaughlin as surveyor of lumber was confirmed in concurrence.

An invitation to be present at the garden party at Washington park, July 2, was accepted unanimously.

A joint communication from Charles A. Prosser, deputy commissioner of the state board of education, relative to state-aided vocational education, was read and referred to the joint committee on education in concurrence.

A joint communication for Adj. Gen. G. W. Pearson relative to the use of roads and highways in Lowell, from July 23 to 30 inclusive, for war maneuvers, was read and referred to the committee on military affairs in concurrence.

A joint resolution granting permission to Frank J. Ladd to erect a post at 32 Andover street was read and adopted in concurrence.

A protest against the erection of post-awing frames from the inspector of lands and buildings was read. Mr. Dow considered the type of frames in question to be cheap. The project was referred to the committee on streets.

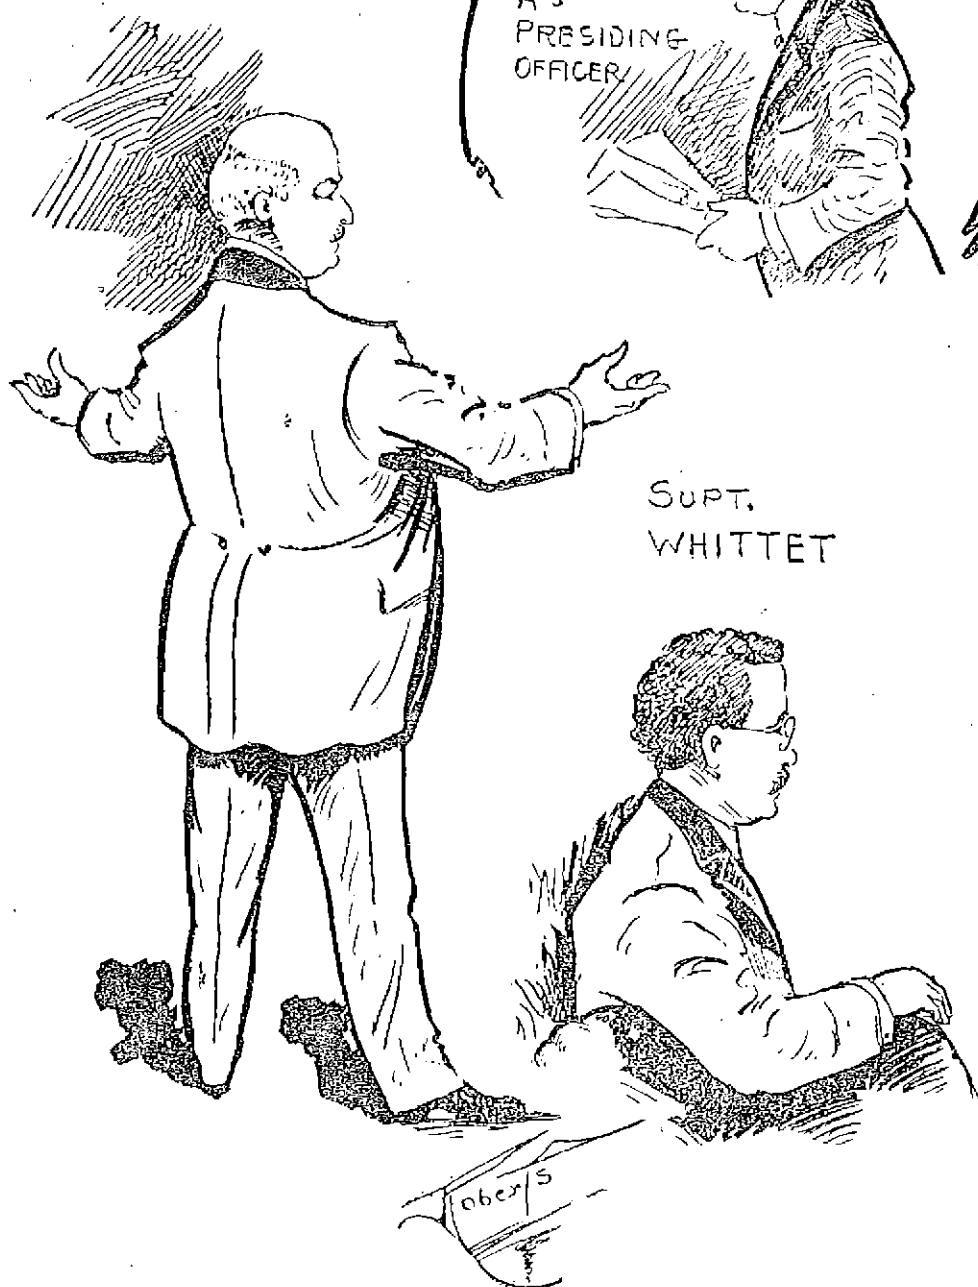

A communication from the committee on accounts calling attention to the fact that the patching of Westford street had cost the city $1970 was referred to the committee on streets.

Acting President Rogers said that the park commissioners were in their room up stairs and awaited the pleasure of the council. He thought it would be but courteous to suspend business and notify the commissioners to appear. It was so voted.

While the messenger went after the commissioners an order transferring the land at the junction of D and Harris avenue and portions of Houghton, Parker and Plain streets from the street department to the park department, was read. The order was introduced by President Elliott and he spoke briefly in favor of the transfer. The order was adopted.

The park commissioners were announced and the question box was opened.

HON. JOHN J. PICKMAN
ADDRESSING THE
COMMON COUNCIL

SKETCHES AT THE MEETING OF THE COMMON COUNCIL LAST EVENING

ened. Mr. Coughlin asked for the reading of his joint resolution recommending an increase in the wages of park department employees from $1.75 to $3 a day. Mr. Coughlin spoke to the order and hoped that the commission would see its way clear to establish a minimum daily wage of $2. Mr. Coughlin's resolution was adopted on the part of the council.

Councilman Gargan asked the superintendent of parks why it was that an additional ball ground had not been laid out on the South common as recommended by the city council. Mr. Whittet said there wasn't any room for an additional ball ground on the South common. Mr. Gargan said that it was a case of fight every Saturday afternoon to see who would get the present ball ground there and he said that if why the additional ball grounds had not been laid out.

Supt. Whittet said there was no proper place for the ball ground.

Mr. Gargan said there is a very good place on the southwest corner of the common.

Mr. Coughlin wanted to know if the park commission would assure the city council that if money enough were appropriated it would be used to increase the pay of laborers in the department.

Mr. Pickman said he would not enter into any agreement of that kind and suggested that it was not the time or place for such a proposition.

Mr. Tracy asked Mr. Pickman if he felt that the men of the department earned $2 a day. Mr. Pickman wanted to know why the park commission should settle that matter. There is a great difference in the service of men.

Mr. Achin wanted to know why the park board puts forth all of its efforts for the embellishment of Fort Hill park. He favored the planting of flowers on the commons. He favored better policing of the commons. Referring to playgrounds he said there is a plot of land on Alken street of which the city is a tenant at will. He asked that the park commission take some steps towards acquiring the land permanently.

Mr. Pickman said that some years ago men who at that time were highly prized for their actions gave Fort Hill park to the city, and it was accepted. It was primarily a display park. That park was never intended to play baseball on. It was intended to be beautiful. Citizens who come from abroad are those who most highly enjoy this display park.

Of the amount of money appropriated for the park department, $4000 went for an athletic field on the South common. That money was taken from the miserably appropriated for the department. That money was saved because the pay roll was not needed. "We don't profess to be immediate," he said. "We take what we get. I went before the committee on appropriations and begged for a larger amount of money. Let me ask you why you didn't give us more money. You don't expect me to put my hand in my pocket and pay for the police of commons, do you? If you do, you are mistaken."

Mr. Achin contended that we should have parks which would be appreciated by local residents, not by outsiders. He favored the turning back of the land in Alken avenue to the proprietors of the Locks and Canals and the present assessment of the same, unless something permanent could be done there.

Mr. Coughlin spoke about fixing up the bandstand on the South common. Supt. Whittet said the stand is very wack. He said a new bandstand was required.

Speaking of work done on the North common, Mr. Pickman said considerable money had been spent there last year. He said that the walks on the South common are in rather bad shape.

Questioned by Mr. Tracy about ball grounds on the west side of Fort Hill park, Mr. Hall said that petitions had come in for the laying out of the field. An estimate of the cost of work was $15,000. Later it was estimated that the wall would cost $5000. The wall was built for $1000. The next year $2500 was asked to grade the grounds, but it was not finished. But $200 has been spent on it.

Mr. Tracy asked about the availability of land for play ground purposes at Watson and Whipple streets. Mr. Pickman said Paul Butler had said the land might be used if taxes on it are abated. It would be a tenancy at will and could not be leased.

Mr. Coughlin characterized the comfort station as a disgrace. Mr. Pickman intimated that the commission

GEORGE C. EVANS

Mr. Whittet would go with him he would show him where there was room for an additional ball ground.

Mr. Rogers said the purpose of the meeting was to ask questions of the park board. He suggested that all comments be eliminated until the hearing was over.

John J. Pickman, chairman of the park commission, spoke about the increase of wages of park department employees as suggested by Councilman Coughlin's resolution. He said that the work on parks and commons was to be done in the interest of the taxpayer, the man who works in the mill and others. He said that the park department had expended, as judiciously as possible, all the money that the committee on appropriations had allowed and there is a great deal of work at a standstill because the commission hasn't the money to go ahead with it.

The park department is dependent upon the appropriation of money by the city council. The department must live within the appropriation and if men are put on the payroll they must be paid what the department can afford. He said the recommendation would receive proper consideration. If there should not be the radical change suggested it would be because the department could not afford to do it. He said he was not prepared to say hadn't the money to do what it had recommended for years.

Mr. Pickman said Supt. Welch had said he intended to have an officer on each common on Saturday afternoons and nights and Sundays during the summer months. This closed the hearing, if hearing it was, and the commissioners were excused.

A joint order appropriating $225 for printing—the municipal register, of which 500 are to be published, was adopted in concurrence.

A joint order authorizing the joint committee on printing to issue Red books was adopted in concurrence.

Mr. Corbett moved that the rules of the council be suspended. The motion was defeated, 14 to 13.

A joint communication from the board of health asking an additional appropriation of $400 for sand sundries was read and referred to the committee on appropriations.

A joint order to erect a new fire alarm box at the corner of Vernon and Third streets was adopted in concurrence.

A joint resolution to lay a sidewalk in Hildreth street was adopted in concurrence.

A joint resolution to pay compensation in the sum of $1897 for claims against the city of Lowell was referred to the committee on appropriations in concurrence.

Resolutions on the death of Hon. George Russell, a former mayor of the city, were read and it was voted to spread them on the records and to send a copy to the family of deceased.

An ordinance amending the ordinance creating a commission to erect Huntington hall was read. This is Alderman Rountree's order, and provides for a combination public hall, police court and ambulance station. It was referred to the committee on ordinances and legislation in concurrence.

An order to repeal the transfer of certain land from the charity department to the contagious hospital commission was read. Mr. Rogers desired to speak on the question. Mr. Chapman took his place as presiding officer.

Mr. Rogers said he hoped the order of last year would not be rescinded. In the beginning he quoted from the statistics of the Revised Laws, which state that each city must provide one or more isolated hospitals for the care of contagious diseases. The city of Lowell has been violating this law for a number of years. The only place where contagious diseases can be received at the present time is in the hospital at the corner of Salem and Pawtucket streets. That is not sufficient.

The speaker said unreasonably people would object to such a hospital being located anywhere, the public mind having been put in a state to offer such objection. He considered the site selected as in the least congested district of the city.

Speaking of land values in the vicinity of the Chelmsford street hospital, Mr. Rogers said Mr. Genest's land is assessed for 2 1/2 to 2 3/4 cents a foot. Other land is assessed for less than one cent a foot. Opposite that site the land is assessed for about six cents a foot. Values could not shrink materially, even though he did not believe they would.

The history of the creation of the contagious hospital commission was gone into and the subsequent dissension in that board was touched upon. If this thing is persisted in, he said, it's going to mean that we will never have any contagious hospital. And epidemics are liable to come at any time.

Referring to land values near the Lowell hospital, at the corner of Pawtucket and Salem streets, the speaker said the land is assessed from 40 to 65 cents a foot. Among the purchasers of land in the immediate vicinity of this hospital are three physicians, Drs. F. H. Smith, Roderique Migneault, and Roy. They were not afraid of buying expensive homes very near a contagious hospital.

The nearest point from Chelmsford street to the proposed hospital is 130 feet.

In other cities contagious hospitals have been placed in down town areas, in the very hearts of congested districts, and physicians have argued that there is no possible danger from infection. Touching a lowering of real estate values, Mr. Rogers said that people would not feel that land and real estate would be cheapened if they looked at the matter coldly. He believed the land values would increase rather than decrease.

Mr. Genest, who owns property in Chelmsford street near the proposed hospital, said Mr. Rogers would object to such a hospital in front of his home. He said six acres of land could be purchased near the Lowell general hospital for $500.

Mr. Coughlin thought the order transferring the land to the contagious hospital commission was railroaded through.

Mr. Achin said the abutters in the section feel very strongly against the proposed site. He mentioned a site across the railroad track on the Chelmsford street land.

Mr. Royal refuted the statement that the order was railroaded through last year's government. He said he represented the men who voted on Dr. McGarry's recommendation last year to transfer the land to the contagious hospital commission. Messrs. McGarry, Wick, Corbett and Bowers also spoke against.

The question of rescinding the transfer of land was put, and the original transfer was repealed, 15 to 7, in concurrence.

A vote was taken for principal assessors. There was no choice, the result being: Gray 7, Tuttle 2, Farrham 4, Jeremiah J. O'Sullivan 5, Cheney 1 and Craig 6.

Board of Aldermen

The board of aldermen met in special session. The special meeting was called for the purpose of drawing jurors, but the board attended to other business and voted to confirm George C. Evans as a member of the board of registrars.

The board was called to order at 8:15 o'clock, with all members present.

Chairman Gallagher named Alderman Toupin to draw jurors for the superior court in session at Cambridge beginning June 13, and the following were chosen:

Patrick O'Hearn, 282 Riverside street, contractor.

James W. Ellis, 83 White street, carpenter.

Amos Kendall, 13 Washington street, stone cutter.

Edward C. Walker, 236 Chelmsford street, machinist.

John Vinson, 51 Fifth avenue, real estate.

Albert Hoyle, 124 Mt. Hope street, plumber.

Charles P. Perham, 39 Edison street, beef dealer.

Oscar J. Daignault, 452 Moody street, barber.

On account of the large amount of preparatory work incident to such a change—re-writing contracts, plant construction, switchboard additions and accounting arrangements—this new schedule cannot go into effect until November 1, 1911.

Subscribers can help expedite some of this preliminary work by calling at our Central Office and selecting the class of service they desire, or by making a FREE telephone call to the Local Manager.

N. B.—Existing contracts for other classes of service will be continued for the present, but no new contracts will be taken for service after the above date except at the new rates.
